Kiwanians Hear Major Mitchell Speak Wednesday

Former Commander Of Battery F Tells Of Experiences In Ireland And England

Major George F. Mitchell, who has recently returned from England on leave, addressed members of the New Castle Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting, Wednesday.

Major Mitchell stated that since leaving New Castle, the unit has been split up, until only a remnant remains. Seventeen of the original group have been commissioned, he stated

Before going across, the unit received new weapons, the hard-hitting 155 millimeter field piece, and after arriving in Ireland, perfected themselves in the use of the weapon. Later, they went across to England, from whence some of the men were sent to North Africa.

Because of the nature of the terrain, they were unable to fire their new pieces, but finally got permission to blast away at some rocks twelve miles out at sea.

In Britain, he stated, the British take advantage of every inch of tillable soil, and great quantities of vegetables are raised. Everything however, is rationed, even manpower.

If a man is unfit for military duty, he must serve in some branch of the homeguard, he stated, even though he works 12 hours a day in a factory. He must give some time outside that to home guard service.

Major Mitchell came home in the same convoy which bore Churchill to this country, and he stated he never felt so safe in all his life.

Honor was paid Keith Brooks and John Wasilewski, who have been the club's Junior Kiwanians during the past year. They were presented with plaques, and each responded, thanking the club for their kindness in permitting them to attend their meetings and enjoy the citizenship training it afforded.

Keith Brooks also sang several delightful solo numbers for the Club members.

Senator Wheeler now has a Presidential boom. His platform, however, was sunk at Pearl Harbor.

Adopt Method To Speed Up Mails

According to Postmaster William R. Hanna, a new method of speeding up mail deliveries, through the addition of a branch post office number to the address on mail for delivery in large cities, is being placed in operation rapidly.

The new system is designed to speed up separation of mail for distribution to branch offices and permits more rapid handling of mail by inexperienced clerks. This was necessitated by the increase in mail volume and the fact that 30,000 postal employes have been lost to the armed forces.

The system does not affect New Castle, but local people corresponding with business firms and individuals in the larger cities, should inquire about the branch office number so that mail may be expedited, Mr. Hanna states.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 3—Allied destroyers, in a Mediterranean engagement with an Axis convoy escorted by warships, destroyed three of the enemy vessels and forced one blazing destroyer ashore, headquarters announced today.

The force of Allied destroyers included a unit of the Royal Hellenic Navy.

The convoy was caught Tuesday night moving off of Cape Spartivento, Southern Sardinia.

CHUNGKING, June 3.—Aided by "puppet" troops who turned against their Nipponese masters at the first opportunity, Chinese forces in western Hupeh province today scored new gains in pursuit of a Japanese six-division army already hurled back across the upper Yangtze with an estimated 30,000 casualties.

Official information released in Chungking said that Chinese soldiers pressed into service by the Japanese for action against their own countrymen lost no time in changing sides when the tide of battle enabled them to do so.

"These puppet troops employed by the Japanese have assisted Chinese forces greatly," a military spokesman said.

"They have provided our army with invaluable military information."

LOSES GAS RATION BOOK FOR DRIVING TO VICTORY GARDEN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—A victory garden is unquestinoably patriotic and may even be the only way to get your daily vitamins, but it definitely is no excuse for driving a car.

Arnold Kuriak, of nearby West Homestead, will quickly testify to that. Kuriak today had his "C" gasoline ration book taken away from him because he was encountered driving to his one-acre victory garden in adjacent Butler County.

Special Hearing Officer Richard J. Nassau declared use of "C" coupons to visit a vegetable garden is "excessive in view of the fact our armed forces are experiencing a fuel shortage".

Point Values On Beef Increased

New Ration Table On Meat Values Goes Into Effect On Sunday Midnight

OTHER CHANGES IN RATION POINTS GIVEN

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3—American consumers today faced the necessity of going on a still slimmer meat diet unless they give up beef steaks for lamb, pork, veal and other meats.

The office of price administration again drastically changed the public's eating habits by raising point values on beef cuts to a level almost twice that of pork values in its June revision of the meat and fat ration programs.

Housewives will have to pay from one to four points per pound more for beef starting Sunday midnight when the new point values for the red coupons in ration book II go into effect.

Beef Values Boosted

Dried beef led the point advance going up four points to 16 points per pound. Every variety of beefsteak, except chuck or shoulder went up three points a pound. Beef roasts were raised two points per pound, except for round tip which went up three. Stews and other beef cuts advanced one point as did hamburger.

Roundsteaks will now cost the consumer 12 points a pound and porterhouse steaks 11 points a pound.

A few pork products and most variety meats were dropped a point and the OPA said that consumers who bought lamb, pork, veal and variety meats would be able to keep their weekly meat consumption up to present pound levels.

Effective To July 3

In issuing its third official table of consumer points which will remain in effect July 3, the OPA also extended rationing to all cheeses

Navy May Bypass Truk Naval Base

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 3.—The United States Navy may bypass the big Jap naval base at Truk Island and concentrate on a big assault on Japan itself, Sea Power, magazine of the Navy League said today in its June issue.

The magazine said:

"We might seize an island within easy reach of Truk and make the big naval base useless for the enemy. And it is not necessary to attack Truk or any of the other mandated islands when moving upon Japan from a number of other directions."

Truk is one of a cluster of islands mandated to Japan by the League of Nations and lies halfway between Wake Island and Port Moresby.

Capture Of Attu Brings U. S. Forces In Threatening Position For Japs

SHIPPING MOVES IN MEDITERRANEAN

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Secretary of War Stimson today asserted that United States successes on Attu island in the Aleutians have brought the army "within striking distance of Japanese territory".

Stimson refused to elaborate on his statement under questioning by reporters at his regular weekly news conference.

"It is a pretty long distance," Stimson said, "but I think it is true."

Asked by a reporter whether his statement meant that the landing strip on Attu island could be used as a base for American aircraft to bomb Japanese possessions in the north Pacific, Stimson responded that his statement "means no inferences from me".

The war secretary asserted that in the short space of three weeks, under adverse weather conditions, army troops had reduced all Japanese resistance on the westernmost Aleutian island of Attu, except for small isolated pockets.

The climax of the battle, Stimson said, occurred on May 28 when American infantry captured the height above Chichagof harbor.

"From there on it was nearly all down hill," Stimson said.

He attributed the decisive defeat of the Japanese to the "dogged fortitude of our ground troops," supported occasionally by shellfire from navy ships and by air support.

Stimson painted an optimistic picture of allied successes and Axis reverses on other fighting fronts.

In the Mediterranean, he said, al-

Seventeen-Day Parley At Hot Springs, Va., Is Concluded, It Is Announced

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 3—The first United Nations food conference ended today with the 44 participating nations approving continuance of international collaboration for the improvement of all mankind in the postwar world.

The conference closed in its 17th day on a keynote by Judge Marvin Jones, chairman of the historic meeting, who said:

"By winning security from hunger for all men we shall win security for free men from the rise and aggression of tyrants.

"By winning freedom from want we shall make all men strong enough to be free."

The conference adopted recommendations establishing an interim commission to carry on its work and stating its objectives in a "declaration" of principles designed to create a better nourished, more hopeful world.

Pay-As-You-Go Tax Bill Is Sent To White House

Measure Goes To President After Congress Conferees Agree On Provisions

NEW TAX SOURCES NOW BEING SOUGHT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Congress today laid a revolutionary pay-as-you-go tax bill on President Roosevelt's doorstep and then began thinking about treasury demands for $16,000,000,000 more taxes.

President Roosevelt is expected to sign the bill, despite the fact that it is based on the much-criticized Ruml skip-a-year plan of placing taxpayers on a current basis.

The measure went before the president with senate conferees all declaring themselves dissatisfied with some features of the measure, but proclaiming it worth-while because it transfers 44,000,000 income taxpayers to a current system of payment.

New Offensive Thrusts Coming Against Japan

Death Toll Of Japs On Attu Rises To 1,791 By Day's Report

By JOSEPH BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—American aerial blows against the Jap bases on Kiska Island in the Aleutians and on Bougainville Island in the northern Solomons were reported today by the navy, paving the way for new U. S. offensive thrusts.

The navy also said that American army troops on Attu Island in the Aleutians continued to comb scattered areas for Japanese stragglers as the toll of enemy dead on that island rose to 1,791.

News of fresh air raids at widely separated points in the Pacific followed closely a statement by Secretary of War Stimson that the American victory on Attu has brought United States forces "within striking distance of Japanese territory."

Mention of a new type of bomber in the action against Kiska indicated arrival of American aerial reinforcements for the anticipated United States drive to crush Japanese forces on that Aleutian Island.

The new bomber mentioned was the twin-engined Ventura which flew with Mitchell bombers and Warhawk fighters to blast and strafe Kiska.

"Hits were scored on the Japanese main camp area (in Kiska) runway and gun emplacements," the navy said. "A number of Canadians piloting Warhawks participated."

Drastic Action In Coal Strike Now Expected

War Labor Cabinet" Summoned To White House By President Today

COAL STRIKE NOW IN THIRD DAY

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3—President Roosevelt today called a White House meeting of his so-called "war labor cabinet"—apparently to set the stage for quick and drastic action to end the nationwide coal strike.

The "labor cabinet" technically known as the labor war board, is composed of topflight leaders of the AFL and CIO. John L. Lewis, president of the united mine workers union who is directing the coal strike is not a member.

It was believed that the President summoned the AFL and CIO leaders to explain to them what action he proposes to take to halt the strike in the mines and ask for the support of all labor—except the strikers—in dealing with the crisis.

Mr. Roosevelt set the conference for noon after he met yesterday with coal czar Harold L. Ickes and members of the war labor board.

Those called to the White House for today's conference included William Green, President of the AFL, and Phil Murray, head of the CIO.

Other leaders summoned to the White House were R. J. Thomas president of the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union, Julius Emspack, secretary-treasuer of the CIO electrical workers, and George Meaney, secretary-treasurer of the AFL.

Foresee Drastic Action

The President was believed to have called the meeting to set the stage for drastic action to end the three-day old strike of the 540,000 members of Lewis' union.

Through the move, he was expected to align all labor leaders behind any action that he proposes to take. This indicated, in itself, that the President was ready to crack down on the strikers.

While the White House made the announcement of the extraordinary

Anniversary Of Japan's Pacific Area Thrusts Shows Japs Losing

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3—The first anniversary of Japan's two-pronged invasion thrust against the American Aleutians and the Hawaiian area today found the tide of war running toward the enemy's shores as the United States prepared important new blows in the Pacific.

While conservative war analysts have warned that the Japs may strike again, the fact remains that during the past year American forces have been on the offensive while the enemy apparently has been digging in to hold his gains.

America's determination to knock out Japan was exemplified by the recent conquest of Attu island in the western Aleutians. Counter-blows against enemy-held Kiska and other Pacific islands obviously were in the making.

Dutch Harbor Bombed Year Ago

Just a year ago the navy announced that four Japanese bombers and 15 fighters attacked Dutch Harbor in the central Aleutians at 6 a. m. local time (12 noon EWT).

The enemy followed up the air attack by seizing the undefended American islands of Attu and Kiska in the western Aleutians. Kiska still remains in Jap hands but now is surrounded by new American bases.

On the same day a year ago, the Japs made their last important seaborne invasion thrust against Midway island, northwest of Hawaii. An 80-ship Jap invasion armada was spotted off Midway and an enemy air attack following on June 4, 1942.

The American victory off Midway was so overwhelming that it became the turning point of the Pacific conflict and gave the U. S. Pacific fleet the edge it needed to begin smashing back.

Japs Failed At Midway

The Japs failed to knock out American installations on Midway, and U. S. army, navy and marine planes routed the enemy armada after sinking and damaging at least 23 enemy ships.

Within two months after the Midway battle, U. S. marines landed on Guadalcanal in the southern Solomons and captured an important airfield which the enemy had nearly completed.

A series of desperate and heavy Japanese counter-invasion thrusts followed during the fall and winter of 1942-43, but they were blunted by America's growing land, sea and air power around Guadalcanal.

During the same period, American and United Nations forces thruout the Pacific began rolling back the Japanese slowly but surely while new preparations were made to blast the enemy.

Year's Highlights

Some of the highlights of the important year were:

New Guinea Is Heavily Bombed

Wewak And Boram Are Again Hammered By Allied War Bombers

(International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 3 — Highly destructive raids on four Japanese airdromes in the Wewak area of New Guinea and continued attacks on enemy shipping north of Australia were announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Enemy landing fields at Wewak and Boram, which were hit hard over the week-end by Allied heavy bombers, again were assaulted in a night bomber sweep which also included attacks on the Jap flying fields at Dagua and But.

More than 24 tons of bombs blasted the airdromes, blowing up ammunition dumps, destroying many parked enemy planes, pock-marking runways and setting off many fires. Although the Nips sent up furious anti-aircraft barrages, all the Allied planes returned to their bases.

A formation of heavy and medium bombers attacking enemy shipping near Lautem, on the Island of Timor, encountered five intercepting Zeros, one of which was probably destroyed in combat. The raiders scored a near-miss as they hurled 500-pound bombs at a 4,000-ton cargo vessel.

Allied bombers, operating singly, strafed the enemy-held village of Hollandia in Dutch New Guinea and barges along the shore, bombed the Cape Gloucester airdrome in New Britain and strafed the decks of a small Jap cargo ship in the Bismarck Sea northeast of Wewak.

Sixteen Japanese planes raided Allied territory at Bulldog, New Guinea. Damage and casualties were slight.

by American and Chinese air forces, took both towns on the approaches to the large Jap Yangtze river base of Ichang yesterday.

Changyang is situated 15 miles south of Ichang and west of the Yangtze town of Itu. Chikiang lies south of Itu.

Japs Retreating

The Chinese were pursuing retreating Jap forces on many sectors in Hupeh and Hunan provinces, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy as they retake town after town.

Jubilant Chungking officials declared the Chinese successes in the Yangtze river valley already had removed a serious threat to China's wartime capital, some 250 airline miles to the west, and to American bases from which bombers ultimately will carry the war direct to Nippon.

Doubling the aerial offensive against Ichang Chinese medium bombers and strong fighter escorts raked Japanese supply depots and shipping in the Yangtze with "highly satisfactory results".

Eyewitnesses told of a steady stream of Japanese wounded, totaling more than 10,000 being brought back to Ichang from the southern Hupeh front, where at least 30,000 Nipponese were wounded and killed up to May 31.

the Japs back across the Owen Stanley mountains and subsequently cleaned the enemy out of important points on the Papuan peninsula.

2. American forces completed the conquest of Guadalcanal, enlarged Henderson airfield, and began a concentrated sky offensive against Jap bases in the central and northern Solomons.

3. U. S. troops occupied the Russell islands, west of Guadalcanal, thus furnishing a "cushion" between American and Jap bases in the Solomons.

4. American troops seized the island of Funafuti in the Ellice group, established an airfield and began pounding enemy island bases guarding the approaches to the main Jap base at Truk in the mid-Pacific.

5. American forces extended their bases in the Aleutians and finally established an important airfield on Amchitka island, only 73 miles south-east of Jap-held Kiska.

meeting, northern and southern coal operators met with Lewis at a downtown hotel.

Under a previous order by the WLB, the conference could not discuss any negotiations to end the wage dispute between the operators and miners. However, it was permitted to talk about prospects of calling off the strike.

The WLB yesterday ordered the miners and opeators to stop wage negotiations and referred the case to President Roosevelt.

Confers With Byrnes

After receiving the case then, Mr. Roosevelt and James F. Byrnes, the latter director of the office of war mobilization, held a meeting with Ickes and members of the WLB.

Overnight, the strike became more serious. Some war plants were beginning to shut down from lack of coal, and, in Alabama, maintenance crews began to join the walkout. With the maintenance crews out, the mines started to flood and it may take from 15 to 30 days to get them back in operation again.

It was against this tense background that Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early announced the meeting of the war labor cabinet. After making the mere announcement of the conference, Early added:

"On the coal strike front, as far as I can tell, there is no expectation of any other announcement to be given to the press and radio at the present time."

Early said, however, that his declaration did not "close the door" to a statement by the White House at some time in the future.

It was not known what action Mr. Roosevelt could take to get the miners back into the coal pits. As commander-in-chief of the armed forces, the President has the power to call out the army and declare martial law. However, the miners in the coal fields have a historic saying that "you can't mine coal with bayonets."

The coal strike started suddenly Monday night. It was near to settlement yesterday, according to spokesmen for Lewis, but the WLB intervened and sent the case to the President.

POINT VALUES ON BEEF INCREASED

and cheese products with the exception of creamed, cottage cheese containing less than five per cent milk fat.

Evaporated and condensed milk also was placed on the revised table at a value of one point a pound.

Canned crabmeat, sea herring and sea mussels were taken from the rationed list because inventories show them to be so scarce that their rationing is not worth the paper work involved. All other canned fish, except oysters, went up one point a pound. Oysters retained their present value of three points.

OPA said that the new higher values on beef were designed to relieve continually increasing consumer demands on beef and shift marketing to more plentiful types of meat.

TERRIFFIC AIR BATTLE RAGES OVER RUSSIA

trating over the city and caused material damage and casualties among the population, it was said.

Skies Alive With Planes

In the West Caucasus the skies over the Kuban Valley were literally alive with planes as hundreds of Soviet and hundreds of German planes engaged in several thousand sorties during the past 24 hours.

Front dispatches told of several battles between forces of planes 100-strong on each side. The mountain sides in the Kuban area reportedly were strewn with the bodies of German airmen shot down by the Soviet air force.

Long range bombers of the Soviet air force hammered repeatedly at important rail junctions on the central front west of Moscow and battered the main Nazi base of Smolensk in that area.

The assaults were termed "mass bombings" which left huge fires blazing at Smolensk after the city had been torn by terriffic explosions.

The rail junctions assaulted were Karachev, between Bryansk and Orel, and Krasny Bor. Ammunition dumps were exploded at Karachev and both fires and explosions were reported at Krasny Bor.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO TAX BILL IS SENT TO WHITE HOUSE

taxes appeared probable if congress attempts to meet the treasury's revenue demands.

Leaders in charge of the pay-as-you-go bill emphasized that taxpayers are required to pay their June 15 installment on their 1942 taxes.

Under terms of the new bill, a 20 per cent withholding tax is levied beginning July 1. The bill provides for 100 per cent abatement of one year's taxes, if under $50, and 75 per cent of higher taxes, except for a "notch" provision grading the forgiveness of tax liabilities between $50 and $66.67.

Under the plan to make taxpaying current, single persons with gross incomes over $2,700 a year and married persons making over $3,500 a year are required to file quarterly declarations and make quarterly payments.

Declaration September 15

The first declaration is made September 15. The taxpayer adds his first two payments of this year and the amount withheld from him and balances this against the 1943 tax liability. He pays up to date Sept. 15 and then pays again on Dec. 15, with a final settlement being made the following March.

The 25 per cent uncancelled tax is payable in two installments, one March 15, 1944, and one March 15, 1945.

To prevent windfalls congress provided that the lower of the 1942 or 1943 tax is subject to the cancellation provisions. Under another anti-windfall provision, an added tax is imposed if the 1942 or 1943 income is far above previous years.

While the bill provides for a 20 per cent withholding tax on wages and salaries, exemptions are provided. The withholding is on amounts above $12 a week for a single person, $24 for a married person and the taxpayer can claim exemption of $312 for each child.

Special provisions were voted to aid service men. They are given a $1,500 flat exemption from income taxes in addition to the regular exemption for single and married persons.

WITHIN STRIKING RANGE OF JAPAN ASSERTS STIMSON

lied shipping now is moving "almost unmolested" as a result of the continuing, devastating air attacks on the islands of Sicily, Sardinia, Pantelleria and on the mainland of Italy itself.

Shipping In Mediterranean

Enemy airfields on the three islands have largely been "neutralized", Stimson asserted. Thus, he said, part of the dangers of air attacks to allied shipping passing through the Mediterranean is removed.

The allies are continuing to attack important industrial centers in Europe from Great Britain, the secretary added.

In China, Stimson reported, the Japanese advance toward the provisional Chinese capital of Chungking has been turned into a rout and the Nipponese troops are retreating rapidly toward Ichang, their base of operation for the thwarted offensive.

The Jap troops, Stimson said, are being closely pursued by Chinese infantry and are being harassed by Chinese and American air forces.

There has been a prolonged lull in fighting on the Russian front, Stimson asserted, except in the Kuban sector where the fighting has been heavy.

Russian reports today of a heavy German air attack in the Kursk area may become important, Stimson said, but the action has not developed sufficiently to permit military observers to make any determination of its significance.

enemy threat against Chungking itself and the air bases laboriously built by American forces in preparation for long-distance attacks against the Japanese imperial islands.

Every dispatch from the fighting front as well as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's latest communique emphasized the signal success gained by Chinese troops operating in the sea-level Tungting lake area southwest of Hankow, where the Japanese had launched their most ambitious attempt thus far to isolate or seize Chungking and immobilize American airports.

Yanks Clinch Victory

The natural terrain of the low-lying countryside surrounding the lake gave Chinese forces a great initial advantage which was quickly seized upon, and excellent coordination between these ground troops and Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's American Air Corps made the victory complete.

Gen. Stilwell's latest communique describing aerial operations gave a clear indication of the increasingly wide sweeps carried out in support of ground troops.

Chinese pilots in American-built fighter planes and led by Lieut. Col. John Alison gave "excellent top cover" to the bombers, Gen. Stilwell's communique said, definitely destroying three Zeros and probably accounting for three others.

Bomber gunners destroyed 20 enemy planes and probably five others caught on the ground at the Ichang airport. In the vicinity of Siaokan, one locomotive and several freight cars were destroyed, while Japanese soldiers and their barracks were strafed with machine-gun fire.

The communique also described continuing operations against enemy bases in Burma.

Changyang and Chikiang, the two towns taken by the Chinese yesterday, both lead directly to the Japanese river base at Ichang.

So whisky makers have been cheating to get more profit. Well, why expect them to act like Sunday School teachers?

Twenty-two guests participated in games during the evening with prizes going to Mrs. Mary Hogue and Miss Winifred Moore. Music was furnished by Rev. and Mrs. J. Campbell Fulton.

Mrs. Navarra commended Mrs. C. M. Patterson and her social committee for the excellent work done under her supervision, in making the year so successful.

A social time ensued with lunch being served. Those in charge composed of Mrs. Samuel Jackson, Mrs. William Ellgass, Mrs. Thomas Stinson, Mrs. James Hook, Mrs. Edward Fee and Mrs. Glen Reno.

The Story Of

Famous Diamonds

The Diamond That Men Fought and Died For!

THE REGENT

Discovered in 1701 in the Parteal Mines of India, the Regent Diamond has survived many stirring incidents. Found by a slave who slashed his leg to hide this 410-carat monster, it passed into the possession of Sir Thomas Pitt whose very life was often attempted. Hidden in the French Revolution, it was later found buried in a ditch on the Avenue des Champs-Elysees, in Paris, and later worn by Napoleon in his sword hilt. In recent years, the Regent was the prize possession of the French Government and was given the honored position at the Loure in Paris.

CLOTHING THE WORLD

COMMONLY the people of the United States conceive America in the role of feeding the world after the war. Few have given consideration to the probability that the United States will clothe it also.

Everything indicates that as regions are removed from the war zone the United States will be asked to supply textiles to impoverished populations. This is proving to be the case in North and West Africa. Under lease-lend shipments and foreign relief and rehabilitation gifts the chief exports from this land to that quarter now consist of percales, seersuckers, jeans, cotton tweed suitings, outing flannel, chambray, muslin, denim and birdseye.

Virtually the only textiles barred are prints that contain animal or floral designs, unwanted patterns that clash with the religious ideas of the natives. Not only is there a shortage in textiles in Africa but also of footwear, and this country is supplying certain types of shoes that are not moving on the American market because of rationing.

Before the war, France, Japan, Brazil and Britain provided Africa with textiles. Comparatively small quantities were shipped from the United States. In the post war era this country may find that it has acquired a new market. This depends upon development of a fondness among the natives for American textiles and upon their ability to acquire the purchase price.

HOLIDAY WITH FEW CASUALTIES

A three-day holiday in recent pre-war years inevitably meant a host of pleasure-seekers killed or injured in accidents, with highway casualties usually leading the list.

The week-end just past presents a vivid contrast. In the Nation as a whole violent deaths were in the neighborhood of 150, compared with the 400 that would have been "normal" in pre-war week-ends.

This record cannot be attributed, of course, to any sudden wholesale compliance with safety regulations, but to the fact that the streets were relatively empty of cars because of the ban on non-essential driving. The fewer cars running, the fewer smash-ups.

Violents deaths do not have to go hand in hand with week-end recreation. Nor is it necessary to keep the cars in the garages to bring about this result. But it is necessary—when conditions permit freer use of automobiles—to operate them with elementary consideration for the rules of safety.

IS KISKA NEXT?

To the non-military mind the battle for Attu seemed to have been drawn out a long time considering the number of Japanese trapped there. The battle for Kiska probably will be drawn out even longer. This is apparent from a study of the strategy employed on Attu.

The attacking force on Attu was instructed not to pitch in and wipe out the Japs right away for that would have resulted in the loss of too many valuable men and unnecessary expenditure of munitions. So the landing forces surrounded the Japs and squeezed them to death. The Japanese were unable to send either food or ammunition to the Attu garrison. A similar battle for Kiska is to be expected.

It has been reported that Japan has more than 10,000 men on Kiska. It has fortifications, a submarine base, warehouses, flying field and ammunition dumps. Apparently the plan of operations adopted by the U. S. Navy is to surround the Japs on Kiska and pound them incessantly. Eventually they will run out of ammunition and food and unless Tokyo takes the risk of sending relief the Japs will perish or be compelled to surrender.

A few submarines may get in with some supplies, but not enough for 10,000 men. It may take a month to reduce Kiska. But time right now apparently is not of great moment in the North Pacific war.

CHANGING LIVING HABITS

Through gradual processes, the American people are being required to make many of the readjustments in their living habits that were imposed upon the free peoples of Europe simultaneously with the first shot of the war. In Italy and Russia the people endured all such restrictions before the war.

This education in the effects of total war upon civilian population is progressing with an accelerated tempo as the conflict approaches its decisive phases. It might be well to make at least a psychological preparation at this time for the more exacting restrictions certain to be imposed in the future.

The prohibition of all but "essential" driving in 12 eastern states, which followed by two months a cut in the basic A ration to less than 1½ gallons a week, is now accompanied by a cut in all wholesale and retail deliveries and in curtailment of gasoline rations for buses. When people in the east walk this summer they will have graphic reminder that the nation is at war and that the Great White Father at Washington now controls every move an individual may make.

But further restrictions are coming as a result of the war. In fact, there is a widespread movement along the east coast in favor of including the entire nation in the restricted gasoline rationing program. A remark Ickes made has been seized upon as proof that easterners are being made the guinea pigs of gasoline rationing. The secretary of the interior said that if the gasoline situation in the east becomes more critical, it may be necessary to impose more drastic rationing restrictions on the mid-west in order to make gasoline now being consumed in that section available for the short haul to the Atlantic seaboard.

Why, newspapers and Congressmen in the east are demanding to know, isn't this ordered now?

The Nazis have been unable to invent a lotion to protect them against the bites of Mosquito bombers.

Now Joe Stalin has sent a sealed letter back to President Roosevelt. It is to be hoped the supply of sealing wax is adequate.

Father went to market Saturday night and spent all the stamps in the family ration books. In other words, he was out on a tear.

Graduates now bidding goodbye to logarithms and calculus ought to realize that they had a picnic compared to a man fixing price ceilings.

As a solution for famine it is seriously suggested at Hot Springs that the world's population be redistributed. Why not hang Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito as a deterrent to future famine starters.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP BENEFITED

Throwing sticks, stones or a ball may be good exercise for the young child, but see that he does so only at proper times and places. Throwing develops arm strength and coordination.

Encourage the tot to throw objects at a target, in a wide-open space, or from the bank into a body of water. Do not let him throw anything indoors, or at anything he can destroy or at persons. Be exacting in this matter. When, for example, he throws a pebble at a car, person or brute, spank him instantly after just one warning.

Most of all, forbid your child to fight with sticks and stones, even in self-defense. When he throws them at another child, that child migt be injured or he might throw in self-defense, possibly injuring your child. Many an eye is lost over fighting with sticks and stones.

Times For Retreating

Should another child attack your child by throwing sticks and stones let your child retreat. Let him learn that to do so is honorable but that to throw back is cowardly. Encourage your child to defend himself when possible, with his fists. If he is too timitd to do so with another child his age or size, show him how or have another person do so. Some timid boys and girls under ten should have boxing lessons and guidance thereafter in using the acquired skill wisely.

About the hardest problem I know for the parent or a tot or runabout is when neighbor children throw sticks and stones at him. There are times when the only wise thing to do is to be with your child when he is likely to be endangered by such savagery. Of course, you can't wisely discipline your neighbor's children. You might, however, properly send them home when violating the rules on your premises. Also, you might, through eternal patience and tact, win those neighbor children not to throw sticks and stones.

The more wholesome skills your child and his playmates cultivate, of course, the less they will be inclined to fight with these primitive weapons.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Our boy, 15 years old, seems to have lost interest in other persons and in his work. What would you advise?

A. A complete examination by a competent physician who probably will name a psychiatrist you should also consult in reference to the boy.

Q. How may one know if a 6-week-old baby hears?

A. Clap your hands once a few feet away from this child. If his eyes fly shut suddenly you can be sure he hears. If in doubt consult your doctor.

Q. My 3-year-old girl is very stubborn. When she takes a notion not to do what I ask her to do she will not do it, however much I punish her.

A. You should know better than to use pain to get a child so young to do what you want her to do. Anyway, since you say you have requested her to do something, why should you try to force her to accede to your request? Does not a request imply that the one requested has a right to choose? Use pain only to keep a child from doing the few things she must never do, not to do what you want her to do. In routines, as going to bed, if you fail to win her cooperation, just pick her up and take her and then on the way talk of things so alluring to her that her resistance will melt away. It can be done.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MELLOWED

Time was I argued black is black
And would not take one footstep back.
But battle for it.
Time was I thought the truth I knew
And knowing something to be true
Would not ignore it.
I must, thought I, stand firm and fast
Or live a weakling to the last.

When contradicted or denied,
Time was I held a certain pride
In long debating.
Thought myself humbled or disgraced
If I by blundering folly faced
Stood hesitating.
Into an argument I'd fly,
To challenge, question and deny.

Now tempered by the years I sit,
Content in silence to submit
And argue little.
With just "Perhaps!" or "Maybe so!"
I let all disputation go,
Content to whittle.
I've learned that much I once thought true
Was possibly my point of view.

Bible Thought

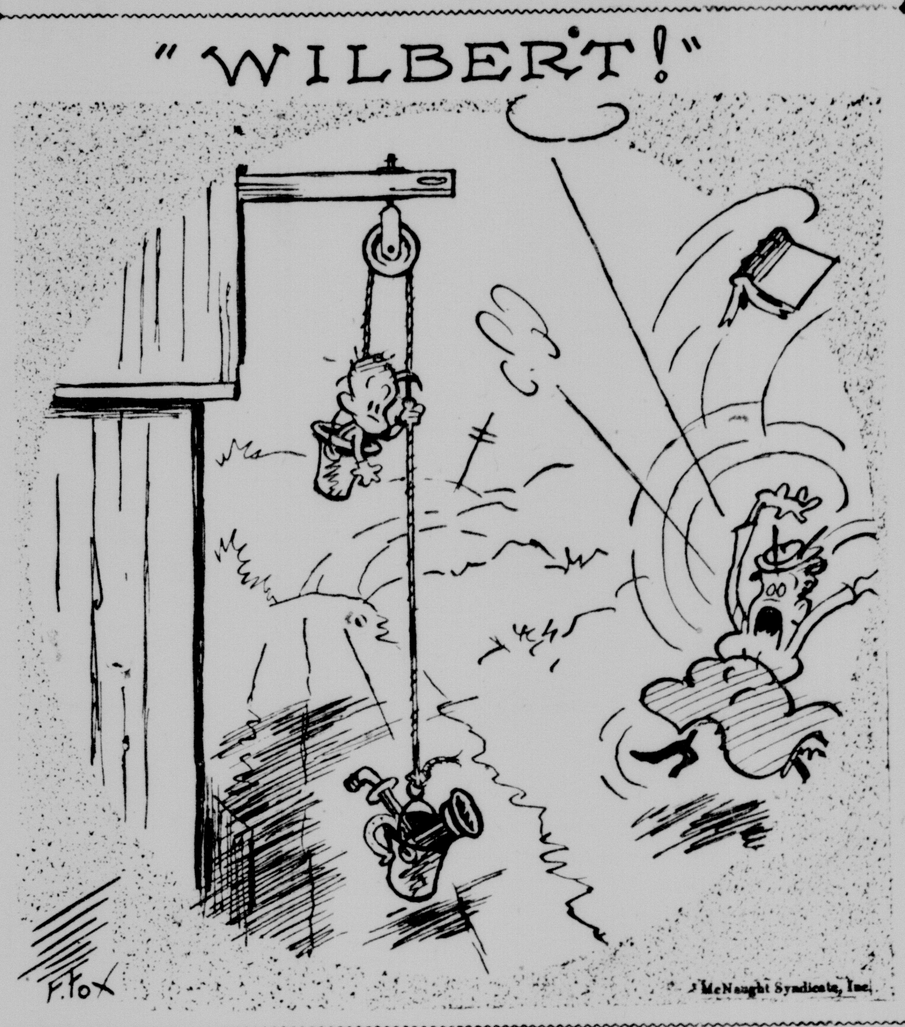

But if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors. —James 2:9.

Words Of Wisdom

In the light of eternity we shall see that what we desired would have been fatal to use, and that what we would have avoided was essential to our well-being.—Fenelon.

We'll win by learning what Napoleon and Grant learned—and others ignored: that cannon will kill more men than rifles.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:23; sun rises tomorrow 5:32.

Very often when some people really want a friend is when they are being tried in court and want him on the jury.

It will be a long time before we hear the last of billions of dollars.

Many thousands of American lives have already been lost in this war. They gave all they had to save our country.

Once in a blue moon, loan companies are given 'different' reasons why the applicants needs the extra cash now. For instance, take the case of a local applicant who, when asked what he needed the money for, answered: "I need it for railroad fare. My nephew just died and I have to buy him a round trip ticket to Louisiana."

"A round trip ticket?" questioned the puzzled loan company official. "Didn't I just understand you to say your nephew was dead?"

"Well, you see, sir, we have about forty relations in Louisiana who would like to take a last look at him and I figured that it wouldn't only be cheaper to send him there so they could see him but would also be co-operating with the Office of Defense Transportation in limiting travel. This way there is only one passenger as against forty, if they should all come up here."

There are people who have thought they had all the troubles they could stand and then came along the time when they could not get any potatoes.

There also seems to be more liars than ever.

Courtship is the period during which a girl decides whether or not she can do better.

Gov. Martin is not finding it a hard job to get jobs for Republicans who want to replace Democrats.

SHOULD'VE TRIED RIVETS

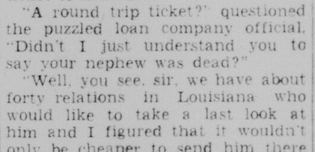

Sonny: "Ma says she could have soled her shoes with this steak I brought back."

Butcher (sarcastically): "Why didn't she?"

Sonny: "'Cause she couldn't get the nails through it."

Doing as well as we expected is not so bad if we not expect too much.

Failure is the first step toward something better — for the right man.

The foolish hope for happiness; the wise avoid things that would cause unhappiness.

There are people who would gladly pay high taxes if they made enough money to demand them.

One way to have permanent peace: Compel all nations to agree not to fight again until the present war is paid for.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

Pat: "What did that fellow say you were?"

Mike: "Laconic."

Pat: "What does it mean, anyway?"

Mike: "I dunno, bedad, but I gave him one on the jaw to be on the safe side."

We are advised not to whisper about things that will help the enemy. How about those who yell so loud they can be heard all over the world.

An Englishman and an American were returning to England from the South Africa Theatre of War and while chatting on deck, one day, the Englishman inquired what had been the American's occupation before being inducted into the Services of his country.

"I was a magician," came the confident answer.

"Really! How interesting. And what was your speciality?"

"Oh I make things disappear . . . rabbits, girls, elephants, trunks and things like that."

Just at that instant a torpedo scored a direct hit, and the two voyagers found themselves in the water clinging to the wreckage. And the Englishman, shaking the water from his eyes, sputtered angrily: "You Americans and your sense of humor."

Very often congressmen stay away when important laws are voted on and many of them cannot even be reached by the police.

Good Taste

Pat. U. S. Patent Office
(By FRANCINE MARKEL)

LONG NARROW FACE

Following yesterday's suggestions for lessening the apparent width of the too-wide face, I now give camouflaging effects for the long, narrow face:

A center part with an upswinging pompadour roll on each side of the part will add the needed wide effect. But a center part should be avoided if the nose is broad, for it will emphasize the nose. The Duches of Windsor wears to perfection a center part.

If you are sufficiently youthful, you may for shortening and broadening, wear bangs, especially those curled and worn clear of the eyebrows. These are especially recommended for the girl whose forehead is very high or protruding. If you have regular features that can stand exposure and a normal and a normal-length neck, you might, for broadening effect wear your hair swinging up from the ears. Now for long bobs: If your neck is long, wear your hair shoulder length, if you like it that way. Long hair covering the neck at both sides will tend to increase facial width.

The irregular lines of a feather bob are becoming to all types of faces, provided the head is sufficiently well-shaped to bear the snug, close arrangement at the crown. The only requirement is a good full "bump" just below the crown in the back. Loop earrings or small clips may be worn successfully by the long thin-faced woman.

Question: I have been my employer's secretary for two years and consequently know his family rather well, but not socially. I have received an invitation to the wedding of one of his daughters. Is it correct for me to send her a wedding gift? If so what would be proper? How should I acknowledge the invitation or should I acknowledge it? —H. H. H.

Answer: If it is to be a church wedding and you received an invitation to the church only, you need send no gift nor acknowledgment. If yours was an invitation to the reception as well as the ceremony, you must send the usual formal acceptance or regret as well as a gift to the bride. This must be something for her new home or for the bride personally but must be addressed to her. Example of formal acceptance:

Miss Mary Jones
accepts with pleasure
Mr. and Mrs. John Smith's kind invitation for Saturday the fifth of June
at four o'clock

Regret: Substitute the following for the second line—"regrets that she is unable to accept" and omit the last line.

TOO YOUNG TO ASK

A musical student visited Mozart one day and said, "I want to write a concerto. Will you tell me how to go about it?"

"You are too young," replied the great composer. "Wait until you are a few years older."

"But," objected the young man, you composed when you were 7 or 8.

"Yes," agreed Mozart, "but I didn't have to ask anyone how to do it."

Byrnes Seen As Successor To Roosevelt
Chipper Ex-Justice Really "Big Figure"
Many Believe Byrnes Has Too Much Power

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Has President Roosevelt designated his preference for his successor in the White House? The question is seriously discussed in Washington since F. D. R.'s appointment of James F. Byrnes to the new post commonly referred to as "first assistant president".

Nobody implies that our chief executive is waiving a fourth-term chance for himself. The guess merely is that Jimmie Byrnes is his initial choice ot succeed him if he is not renominated. To have been tagged now may prove to be helpful to Jimmie in the later 1940's anyway. If he measures up and has good luck today, he will be a formidable proposition when that time comes.

Byrnes probably is the initial presidential possible futurity who ever was so unceremoniously referred to as "Jimmie". However, that is how he is currently mentioned in the national capital. It is not that he is frivolously regarded in the national capital, either. He is a big man, an ex-senator, an ex-justice of the supreme court and very recently ex-head of the Economic Stabilization Board. He has about as many exalted "ex's" as it is easy to capitulate in a hurry.

Yet somehow, in his early senatorial days, his capitol associates fell

The World and the Mud Puddles

INDECISION

Perhaps when this is published Robert Patterson, Undersecretary of War, and William Jeffers, rubber administrator, will have settled their controversy regarding gasoline and synthetic rubber, and perhaps they will not have done so.

The Truman committee has not been able to get very far with either of these gentlemen in determining whether the government policy on one hundred octane gasoline and synthetic rubber is on a sound basis. Mr. Patterson says that rubber is being made at the expense of gasoline. Mr. Jeffers says it is not and adds that rubber, too, is of vital importance. Now, each of these gentlemen concedes the honesty and sincerity of the other; each couches his views a little differently, and a little more emphatically each time in their appearance before the Truman committee, but neither appears to be able to get a final decision from anyone. Mr. Patterson says it is now Donald Nelson's fault; that the war production chief should make a decision, but whether from lack of authority or otherwise, Mr. Nelson, up to this time, has not made the decision.

Raymond Moley, one of the original "brain trusters," wrote the other day that what the situation needs is a new president. He wondered how long the British House of Commons would permit a prime minister to remain in office with a brawl like this going on, one that threatens the war effort on so broad a front.

A war cabinet has been hinted as one solution of problems like this; a cabinet headed by a competent executive. This would do no good under current circumstances. There already are scores of bureaus and agencies set up to handle war problems but none of them apparently are able to make important decisions. They all must take their major questions to the president for his solution, and he doesn't make them promptly, the current dispute being an example.

We may not actually be closing the war, but we certainly are not winning it and neither are we likely to start making much progress in that direction as long as the present headless, formless bureaucratic bungling goes on.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

Maybe we can get Phil Murray and old Bill Green to dig coal.

They're the bondsmen for labor who gave the famous "no strike" pledge to the White House which stalled off "no strike" legislation months ago.

It could have been done in a few words like these: "There shall be no strikes and no lockouts for the duration of the war. All labor disputes shall be submitted to arbitration and the majority ruling of the arbitrators shall be binding."

As for the arbitrators, their status could have been covered like this: "Two arbitrators shall be named and they shall name the third. No one of the three shall be an officer or member of the employer or employee organizations involved. No one of the three shall be an employee or officer of the federal government."

Millions of Americans would have been willing to serve as fair, square arbitrators just as millions of Americans serve annually on civil and criminal juries.

We go to the people for a jury to decide issues which are of personal importance to a couple of litigants. Why not go to the people for arbitrators to decide issues which affect all of us?

Thought for the day: No—it won't do. It's too simple!

"Large Potentialities"

WASHINGTON, June 3.

MEMBERS of the Senate and House who feel that some progress has been made recently toward a simplification of the governmental war agencies in Washington and a lessening of their confusion and cost will be chagrined over the appearance of a new and entirely unheralded agency with large potentialities in the way of jobs and expense.

IT DOES seem that this Administration can create bureaus faster than an economy-minded Congress can lop them off. A few days ago the Byrd committee made a final recommendation for the abolition of the NYA, and a few days before that the Senate lopped off the appropriation for the National Resources Planning Board, of which the President's uncle is chairman. These were steps toward a reduction of useless agencies, but neither has been concluded. While the issue as to these still remains in doubt, there springs into being a new and gaudy commission, with powers so large and purposes so vague that they are not easily explained even by those charged with its management and responsible for its origin.

THE NEW agency rejoices in the name of "The Committee for Congested Production Areas." It was established on April 7 by Executive Order No. 9327, and its salaried director is Mr. Carrington Gill, once deputy administrator of the WPA; once an executive of the old NRA; recently in the War Department, and one of the earliest and most ardent of the New Dealers who have been here since the first Roosevelt administration and are eager to stay through a fourth term. There has been no publicity concerning the Committee for Congested Production Areas. It has not much more than started yet and it does not know exactly where it is going, nor how. Nevertheless, its sponsors look forward to a big future for it and large plans are being made. There seems some mystery as to whose idea this new bureau originally was, and quite a lot of confusion as to its necessity. However, under the authority conferred it may easily expand into one of the most formidable of the Federal emergency bodies. The object, as explained in the order, is to as-

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Emil Llerena has been promoted from dishwasher to coffee-man in the steward's department of the Waldorf-Astoria.

And Julia Maner, bus girl in the Norse Grill, is now a maid.

"So what?" you say.

Well, let me tell you, that to Emil and to Julia these promotions are more important than those of Colonel X to brigadier general or the conferment of the Knight's Cross of the Order of King Smorgesbord IV on Admiral Count von Casserolini.

True enough, Emil and Julia—and the millions of Emils and Julias and Franks and Marys and Michaels and Sarahs—who toil in obscurity won't get their pictures on the front pages for their promotions.

But they receive honorable mention in their little house magazines (such as the Waldorf-Astoria Staff News) and they are just as proud as any general or admiral could be.

There certainly isn't much glamour to washing dishes every day and every night.

There isn't much glamour to cleaning hotel rooms either—kind of messy, as you know if you have ever slept in a hotel and remember the condition in which you left your room.

But to climb from dishwasher to coffee man, from bus girl to maid is a step in the right American direction—up, up, up. The sky's the limit. There's a general manager's job waiting for someone at the top of the ladder; somebody has to be head housekeeper—why not Emil, why not Julia?

So these promotions are very, very important and so are the little publications that recognize the achievements of little people who may, some day, be very big people.

After all, the greatest tonic in the world is INCENTIVE. Take that away from people and what have you? A regiment, surly, lazy, what's-the-use kind of slaves.

Here's another little item form the "Staff News".

"Miss Anne Martin, comely operator on the Park Avenue elevators will be married to Edward Byerly at the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. The bridegroom does lettering for Paramount Studios. All happiness to you, Ann!"

Important? You bet it is.

WEST POINT—General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air forces:

"We are going to end it soon by bombing military objectives consistently with the maximum destructive power we possess."

OBERLIN, O.—Wendell Willkie, Hamilton Fish, Gerald L. K. Smith, Alfred Landon and Herbert Hoover, I understand, are all against me—so I may be nominated in spite of myself if this keeps up."

NEW YORK—Sir William Beveridge, English economist:

"I suspect that the freedom of our country from strikes is not due to the superior wisdom of our government or our labor leaders, but to the fact that we are 3,000 miles nearer Germany than you are."

into the habit of addressing him as "Jimmie"

It has stuck ever since. Even in the federal supreme court he continued to be identified as "Justice Jimmie". He always was a dignified chap, too. He is rather small physically. He is chipper. The name, Jimmie, seems to fit him.

He's positive, though.

In his new post (the Office of War Mobilization) he is due to register as none of the government's sub-chiefs have done. Maybe some of them could have done so, too, if they had had the authority, but he's GOT it.

He is provided with a "committee" to help him.

These committees, commissions and bureaus are the outfits that have gummed the cards heretofore. They haven't had any concentration. It appears that that is what is to be centered in Jimmie's War Mobilization Office.

If it really means mobilization it ought to do the business.

Some cabinet departments have got to be subordinated; notably war and the navy.

Harry Hopkins really amounts to a White House department. That is to be suppressed, too. Incidentally, congress is to be skwushed whenever it is intervening.

But there is to be a dictator—subject to a sub-dictator.

And the sub-dictator is to be Jimmie Byrnes.

It isn't hard to see how the Franklin D. Roosevelt dictatorship wormed into the situation. That was accidental. The war developed it. It was automatic. Jimmie's incoming was evolved.

But later?

From being No. 2 man in the national administration, is the former senator and supreme court justice destined to graduate into the supreme Washington boss-ship the next time there's a vacancy there?

He'll have had plenty of practice as the present incumbent's chief assistant.

And the fact is that he won't be so much just an assistant as the real chief except relative to the detail of giving military orders. President Roosevelt made it pretty clear that he wanted to get all but his army command off his hands when he named Jimmie to relieve him of his other duties without exception. If he sees fit he (and he alone) can veto orders given by Assistant Byrnes, but there is small likelihood that he will do much of it. He wants freedom to concentrate on problems of actual fighting and that kind of freedom is exactly what he would not be getting if he interferred with his chosen understudy's management.

GROVE CITY, June 3—Local friends have received word from Mrs. Richard Thomson, who spent several months here when her husband was head of the British Admiralty delegation at the Cooper-Bessemer plant, that their son, Lieut. Eric Thomson, a bomber pilot with the R. A. F., is missing in action. Mr. Thomson, who was called back to England for another assignment, has arrived safely, while Mrs. Thomson remained with a daughter in Toronto.

'NO CHILDREN' RENTALS ILLEGAL IN ILLINOIS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 3.—A long-forgotten state law was revived Wednesday to prevent landlords from refusing to rent their vacant apartments to families with small children.

The law was ordered enforced by Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court after a survey of Chicago's housing shortage showed that many landlords would not lease their apartments to families with children.

A fine of not less than $50 and not more than $100 for each offense is provided in the law which also voids clauses in leases which ban renters from bringing children onto the premises.

CONGRESSMEN FROM EASTERN STATES TO DISCUSS GAS RATIONS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3 — Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., on Wednesday asked all senators and representatives from 12 eastern states under severe gasoline restrictions to meet Friday with petroleum experts for a conference on recent OPA gas ration rules.

In a letter to the eastern members of congress, Hartley declared that the recent change in OPA rationing rules for the Atlantic seaboard "have raised considerable doubt that this program is being administered efficiently and equitably."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

sure "the more effective handling" of governmental problems in congested production areas."

AS DISCRETION is given the committee to decide what are the governmental problems and which are the congested areas, this may mean anything the director wants it to mean. It is possble for the committee to develop into a duplicate of the old National Emergency Council or a revived National Defense Advisory Commission. Or it may attempt to coordinate the multitudinous governmental units which function wildly and independently in all areas. No one can tell about that. Largely, it depends upon the warmth of the Presidential support, the liberality with which funds are provided and the initiative and character of the director. At present the scheme is in an exceedingly cloudy state. It is said that in the "congested areas" it will concentrate upon problems such as transportation, food supply, schools, health, recreation and fuel.

BUT, WHAT it will do about these problems or why it should do anything are questions to which no answer is given. Cloudy, too, appear the ideas as to how much money the new agency will have to spend, where it is to come from, how large an organization will be needed and exactly what it is to do, how, when and why. In fact, the only sure things about it are its "large potentialities," and that it is to be operated by Mr. Gill, the protege and friend of Mr. Harry Hopkins, largely lacking, as is Mr. Hopkins, in business experience but well trained in the "tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, spend, elect, elect, elect" school of thought, of which so many pupils still stick on the pay roll.

THE CHAIRMAN of the new committee is Budget Director Smith. Other members are Mr. Patterson, of the War Department; Mr. Bard, of the navy; Mr Nelson, General Fleming and Mr. McNutt. But, all these gentlemen have other posts. With them the Committee for Congested Production Areas will be incidental. Mr. Gill will be the committee and will run it. He is an able, honest, likable young man and perhaps he will run it well. It is conceivable that he may dispel the mists about its purpose and do a lot of useful coordinating. On the other hand, the degree to which the old WPA was steeped in politics when he and Mr. Hopkins were running it is justification for feeling that among the aforementioned "large potentialities" might be certain political activities not wholly unconnected with the fourth-term movement.

PERHAPS THIS does Mr. Gill an injustice. Certainly he and the members of his committee will deny that there is the slightest political tinge to the new committee. It will also be denied that the new organization will provide opportunity for putting an additional number of faithful fourth termers on the pay roll. Nevertheless, there are two things which, more or less, lend themselves to this idea. One is the absence of any evidence of the need for war or any other purpose of the new committee. The other is the complete lack of publicity attending its creation. It is true the executive order creating it was printed in the Government publication for such orders. But no one reads that and its existence was discovered more or less by accident. Under the circumstances it may pay Congress to keep an eye on the Committee for Congested Production Areas. It might even pay to ask Mr. Carrington Gill to report from time to time what he is doing and with how many people.

NIELSON GETS BACK PRIZE DEER HEAD

J. B. Nielsen, local jeweler, who achieved considerable acclaim during the hunting season last fall, when he bagged a fine buck at Crown, Pa., on the edge of Cook's Forest, which sported 27 points, has just gotten the head back, and it is now on exhibition in his jewelry store on the Diamond.

The deer is slightly different from the Pennsylvania type of deer, having white hair on the inside of its ears, and the points on the antlers come off it like an elk's. Many hunters have contended there is no such a thing as a 27-point buck, but Mr. Nielsen has the evidence on display.

Now 17,083 U. S. Soldiers Listed As War Prisoners

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Secretary of War Stimson asserted today that the number of American soldiers officially reported as being prisoners of war now totals 17,083.

The reports, he said, are incomplete, however. Of the total, 11,307 men are held by Japan; 3,312 by Germany, and 2,464 by Italy.

Food packages are being received by American prisoners of war in Germany and Italy "fairly well" Stimson said, but packages to Japan are not being delivered because Japanese consent has not been obtained.

MRS. LESLIE HOWARD HOLDS HOPE ACTOR HUSBAND IS ALIVE

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 3—Mrs. Leslie Howard today held to hope that her actor husband, reported missing after a British Overseas Airway plane was shot down on a flight from Lisbon to London, still may be found alive.

The wife of the stage and screen player lives at Stowe Maries Westcott, Surrey.

"Mrs. Howard," said a friend, "has not given up hope."

The Douglas transport plane, with 16 other persons aboard, carried rubber boats and it was felt that although the sea was reported rough there may have been some possibility that the craft were launched. British ships and airplanes searched the Bay of Biscay zone where the transport plane was reported shot down.

Let's have one more law forbidding anybody to reform another nation, section, family or personality until his own is perfect.

Kiwanians Hear Major Mitchell Speak Wednesday

Former Commander Of Battery F Tells Of Experiences In Ireland And England

Major George F. Mitchell, who has recently returned from England on leave, addressed members of the New Castle Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting, Wednesday.

Major Mitchell stated that since leaving New Castle, the unit has been split up, until only a remnant remains. Seventeen of the original group have been commissioned, he stated.

Before going across, the unit received new weapons, the hard-hitting 155 millimeter field piece, and after arriving in Ireland, perfected themselves in the use of the weapon. Later, they went across to England, from whence some of the men were sent to North Africa.

Because of the nature of the terrain, they were unable to fire their new pieces, but finally got permission to blast away at some rocks twelve miles out at sea.

In Britain, he stated, the British take advantage of every inch of tillable soil, and great quantities of vegetables are raised. Everything however, is rationed, even manpower.

If a man is unfit for military duty, he must serve in some branch of the homeguard, he stated, even though he works 12 hours a day in a factory. He must give some time outside that to home guard service.

Major Mitchell came home in the same convoy which bore Churchill to this country, and he stated he never felt so safe in all his life.

Honor was paid Keith Brooks and John Wasilewski, who have been the club's Junior Kiwanians during the past year. They were presented with plaques, and each responded, thanking the club for their kindness in permitting them to attend their meetings and enjoy the citizenship training it afforded.

Keith Brooks also sang several delightful solo numbers for the Club members.

Senator Wheeler now has a Presidential boom. His platform, however, was sunk at Pearl Harbor.

Four of his brothers, two brothers-in-law and a nephew are in service.

Adopt Method To Speed Up Mails

According to Postmaster William R. Hanna, a new method of speeding up mail deliveries, through the addition of a branch post office number to the address on mail for delivery in large cities, is being placed in operation rapidly.

The new system is designed to speed up separation of mail for distribution to branch offices and permits more rapid handling of mail by inexperienced clerks. This was necessitated by the increase in mail volume and the fact that 30,000 postal employes have been lost to the armed forces.

The system does not affect New Castle, but local people corresponding with business firms and individuals in the larger cities, should inquire about the branch office number so that mail may be expedited, Mr. Hanna states.

ATTEND GRADUATION

Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Fletcher, of 1813 Delaware avenue, have returned after attending the exercises when their son, Joseph D. Fletcher graduated at the Castle Heights Military Academy, Lebanon, Tenn. Joseph was awarded the "Red Key" for being on the honor roll for the entire year. He ranked seventh in a class of 81. This summer he expects to enlist in one of the branches of the military service.

Anti-Strike Bill Awaits Outcome Of Miner's Strike

Measure Will Be Passed Unless Coal Strike Is Speedily Ended Is Forecast

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Fate of the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill today hung directly on the outcome of the coal strike, with members predicting passage unless the dispute is quickly settled, but defeat for the measure if the miners return to work.

As the house neared the voting stage, Rep. Sparkman (D) Ala., one of the drafters of the measure and a member of the Military Affairs committee which unanimously approved it, made this forecast:

"If some reasonable settlement of the strike has been reached before a final vote on this bill, it will probably be defeated. If the miners are still out, it will undoubtedly pass."

Indications were that managers of the bill, regarding it as a possible moral force in bringing a strike settlement, probably would not permit it to reach a final vote until tomorrow.

The measure gives statutory blessing to the War Labor Board, vests broad enforcement powers in the W.L.B., outlaws violence, provides for registration of unions, and calls for a 30-day "cooling off" period and a secret ballot before a strike can be legal.

Both Republicans and Democrats are badly split on the desirability of the legislation, with most G.O.P. members having intended, before the coal strike occurred, to vote against it. Nevertheless, 71 of the 176 Republicans voting yesterday opposed even considering the bill at this time.

Bad News Of Day For Japs

(International News Service)

Bad news for Japan was spelled out in war developments today.

The developments included:

1. Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, retired commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet predicted in Washington that Russia would enter the war against Japan.

2. Secretary of War Stimson declared that the U. S. victory on Attu Island in the Aleutians has brought the army "within striking distance of Japanese territory".

3. The navy reported new air raids on Jap bases in the north and south Pacific.

Attack On Japan Must Come From Bases In China

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, retired commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, declared today that the forthcoming Allied attack on Japan must come from Chinese bases.

Testifying before the House immigration committee in behalf of legislation to repeal the Chinese exclusion act, Yarnell predicted a war between Japan and Russia, but said that Russian bases would not be available for Allied attacks on the island of Japan.

"Russian bases would be occupied by Japanese troops soon after the Russo-Japanese war began," Yarnell declared.

"This leaves the mainland of Asia as the only area from which airpower, adequate to inflict decisive damage to Jap arsenals and munitions plants, could operate," the admiral stressed.

He said the Vladivostok area is "highly vulnefable" and would be difficult to hold against Japanese attack.

Request New Route To Croton Avenue

Residents of the East Side today presented to council a petition asking that the out-going route of the Croton bus be changed in order that it can avoid an alleged "death trap bottle neck" in Main street. At present the bus leaves County Line street and reaches Croton avenue via Pine and Main streets. The petitioners want the bus route to leave County Line street and travel via Crawford avenue to Croton avenue.

One of the other reasons cited by one of the petitioners, William Erk, was for service as near as possible to Ray street.

No action was taken upon advice of Solicitor R. M. White who said that the Shenango Valley Transportation company has opposed the city's regulatory ordinance and a hearing upon it was held recently. Solicitor White said that it would be unethical for the city to make any decision pending the court's consideration of the recent hearing.

His advice was accepted.

Lt. E. Shoemaker Writes From Navy

Westfield Presbyterian Pastor Sends Letter To Friends In This District

NOW SERVING AS NAVY CHAPLAIN

In what he describes as "a literary mood," Lt. (jg) Edwin A. Shoemaker, pastor of Westfield Presbyterian church, who is serving as a navy chaplain, writes to the New Castle News and friends in this district.

Lt. Shoemaker, whose present address is Naval Operating Base, Navy 1504, care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif., wrote the following letter on May 21:

"The New Castle News faithfully published my church announcements. Tonight I'm feeling in a literary mood so I'll write to friends in the New Castle district with the hope that The News will be tolerant of my efforts and let it go to press. Within the last few days I received a handful of mail. The post marks were from December 12 to May 11. It was a grand collection of material that has been trying to catch up with a roving sailor.

"Perhaps this urge to take up the 'mightier pen' has been induced by some of the experiences of the day. I've seen my home from every conceivable viewpoint. As I rode my motorcycle to the office, I saw it as a business man might see it. Everything is in a state of tremendous activity. Men are busy. Traffic moves to and fro and men toil in the blistering heat. Their labor is not in vain. The results are in evidence.

"A second view is from a ship. Now it looks like a romantic place, the symbol of a new 'Roman Empire,' a segment of a mighty nation's war effort. It's a stepping stone for victory. We hope it will serve humanity by bringing a new order for oppressed people in China, and especially for India. A dreamer of far flung dreams sees it in this light!

"A third view is from the air. Of the three, it is my choice. It gives one a sense of total detachment. Below are all of man's efforts as compared with the utter vastness of God's creative and sustaining power. Such a sight leads one to make qualative distinctions as against mere quantity. Above is an unbroken vastness of blue; below, men labor for the bubble reputation or the temporary satisfaction of brute appetite. At home I had a copy of Asquith's 'Roll On In Silent Majesty.' If you know the picture it will give you the emotional tone that I would attempt to convey.

"The evening always brings the day to its climax. It's worth thousands of miles of travel to see the sun plunge into the Pacific. For a few moments nature spills her paint pots across the sky. Never have I seen such brilliant red, orange and yellow against a backstop of sea blue. A popular song would say, 'I'm Breathless.' As I watched it this evening, a line from Carrie Jacobs Bond whispered itself to my mind, 'And the sun goes down with a flaming ray.' But far better is that great hymn which we use in worship.

"Now the day is over,
Night is drawing nigh,
Shadows of the evening
Steal across the sky.
Grant to little children
Visions bright of Thee,
Guard the sailors tossing
On the deep blue sea."

"Indeed evening shadows are things of beauty as they steal across the horizon. The shadows of war are different. They engulf a tiny planet with suffering. One lies down at night not so much with a sense of fear as with a feeling of commitment. Will there be a new day? What a world where man lie down to sleep without so much as taking off one's shoes! In the midst of all this some pious looking soft-spoken imbecile smiles and says, there is no pain. Suffering is but a figment of the imagination and sin is not half as black as the New Testament portrait! Who can be so gullible?

"Writing of flying reminds me of a recent event. A few days ago I had plans for a half day flight. Just before turning in for bed a man called and asked to see me the next morning. For an instant I was tempted to tell him to come at some other time. My better judgment told me that such a course would be to dodge my duty. I told the man to come. Then I cancelled my place in the plane. The next morning at breakfast I learned that the plane I expected to take at dawn had crashed on the take-off! What say? I'm a Calvinist from head to foot. Every man's life is a plan of God. It will not be taken until he finishes his life mission or sins away his hour of grace.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN A. SHOEMAKER."

Governor Martin Approves $513,000 Bill; Others Are Vetoed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 2—Gov. Edward Martin on Wednesday approved six bills, including a $513,000 biennial appropriation for the commerce department, and vetoed three others, leaving only 68 measures to be considered by the end of the week.

The commerce appropriation was divided between the department and the newly-formed Pennsylvania aeronautics commission. The department was allocated $300,000 for expenses and state advertising while $213,000 was earmarked for commission expenses and the costs of maintaining emergency landing fields. The governor also approved a bill appropriating $27,593 to erect a memorial for Dauphin county veterans of World War I.

The chief executive signed the following appropriation bills: $60,000 for the transportation of books by free, non-sectarian county libraries; $100,000 to enable Pennsylvania State College to conduct research of livestock and agricultural problems; $75,000 for the board of finance and revenue to refund certain personal property taxes paid by liquidating trustees; and $15,000 for the urban colored commission.

Simultaneously, the governor announced he had vetoed a measure providing for the rehabilitation of disabled industrial workers by the department of labor and industry. He pointed out that a state-aided rehabilitation program was already underway. Also disapproved was a bill reimbursing fourth class school districts for taxes on lands acquired by the state since June 1908 and another enactment making a $10,000 appropriation to the Monongahela Memorial hospital association.

Await Decision In W. And J. College Labor Injunction

Result Of Trustees' Attempt To Prevent P. L. R. B. Investigation Expected

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 3—A court decision was being awaited today in the attempt of the trustees of Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., to prevent the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board from investigating a complaint of unfair labor practice.

The trustees filed an injunction suit in the Dauphin county commonwealth court on March 11, halting a hearing scheduled by the board for March 22, pending a court ruling.

Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, president of the college and state civilian defense head, appeared Tuesday at a court hearing and urged that the Labor Board be restrained from taking action. He told Judge Karl E. Richards that the college is an eleemosynary institution and as such not within the Labor Board's jurisdiction. Tuition pays only 55 per cent of the cost of education, Hutchison testified, and the rest is covered by income from endowments and gifts. In addition, he said, many students receive college aid.

The complaint against the institution was filed last March by the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, local 75, following the dismissal of a college employe in February 17. The complaint charged that he was fired for union activities.

BUMPS

Johnny is an active little boy. He often gets pretty hard bumps. What is a good thing to do for a bad bump?

The bump swells and gets discolored. It is often on the face. It does not look so well.

Perhaps a good thing to do is to put a warm moist pad on it. Wring a wash cloth out of warm water and put it on.

Probably the best cure is to have mother kiss the bump. John thinks so anyhow.

Dad gets a bump once in awhile too.

How about treatment?

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills

Pare Sparingly To Save Precious Potato

Suggestions Given To Help Housewife To Conserve Current Supply

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 3—To help the housewife make the most of the potatoes now coming back into the market, suggestions for economical use have been made by B. W. Dedrick, retired professor of milling engineering at the Pennsylvania State college.

The best way to pare the potato is in thin, narrow, strips about one-half inch wide. A narrow paring will not cut deep enough to waste much of the potato bulb.

Experiments show that with half-inch cuts, the average waste is only about 13 per cent. If the parings are somewhat wider than a half inch, the loss is about 21 per cent. Still wider and thicker parings give a loss of about 26 per cent. Ordinary home and restaurant parings usually run to about 30 or 35 per cent waste Mr. Dedrick finds.

Boiling or baking potatoes with the jackets on are also excellent ways to conserve the supply. Potatoes prepared like this are more nutritious and more easily re-cooked than those which are pared, and besides about 98 per cent of the potato is retained.

A medium sized potato of eight ounces loses about an ounce in paring, while the loss is less than one-eighth of an ounce if the potato is cooked with the skin on.

"People as a rule do not realize how much waste there is in preparing potatoes for our meals," Mr. Dedrick said.

Miss Shiffler To Teach Classes

Miss Dorothy Shiffler of New Castle has been selected to teach a war training course in Graphic Statistics to be given by Carnegie Institute of Tecinology through Westminster college in the New Castle senior high school. Registration for the class and also for classes to be given by Westminster in Engineering, Drawing and Descriptive Geometry and Qualifying Mathematics will be held from 7 to 10 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night in the senior high school.

BOY SCOUTS

Scoutmasters Round Table

Thursday evening, June 3, the scoutmasters of New Castle will hold their regular meeting at the scout office, 328 Highland avenue at 8 o'clock. Every scoutmaster and assistant is asked to be present at this meeting and if possible to bring some member of his troop committee with him. Plans for the district camporee will be completed and every scoutmaster will be asked to help with these plans.

Camping forms for registration will be at this meeting and they will be explained to the group present.

The district wishes to thank the New Castle troops for participating in the Memorial Day parade and assisting at the cemeteries during the Memorial week end. Our younger Yanks are patriotic and they desire to do their part in helping to win the war. Their leaders should give them every opportunity and all possible help.

Troop 37 Honors Mothers

Kiwanis Troop 37 held a special party at the Clenmore school building on Monday evening and all scouts who have advanced in scout rank, during the past few months, presented their mothers with miniature pins indicating the rank which their sons have achieved. The program for the evening was interesting and was worked out by the scouts of the troop. Six new tenderfoot scouts were inducted into the troop and a candle light investiture service was conducted by Scoutmaster N. J. McCluskey and the junior leaders of his troop. Paul Rowland acted as master of ceremonies and Charles Mead explained the advancements of members of the troop.

Scout Clifford Hoch gave an educational presentation on the origin and development of the American flag.

Eagle Scout Fred Logan, who has his orders to report to Camp Meade for service in the army, was present at the ceremonies.

Dr. J. Wesley Post, chairman of the troop committee, Dr. A. J. Reynolds, M. R. Hornung and Jim Finnessy, members of the Kiwanis club, which sponsors the troop were present to represent the club, and A. H. Mellor, New Castle district chairman, represented the scout organization of New Castle.

A delightful refreshment period was enjoyed in the cafeteria room of the school following the ceremonies and mothers of the scouts, and a canteen group organized at the school and made up of young ladies from the neighborhood, served a tasty lunch.

Hugh Chapin, scoutmaster of Neshannock Troop 1, and several of his scouts joined Troop 37 in making a joint ceremony for the two troops.

A special edition of the Kibo News, Troop 37 publication, was presented to the parents and friends of the troop. This publication contained articles from former scouts and scouters of the troop, who are now in the armed forces.

OPA SUMMER COTTAGE BAN IS PROTESTED

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 3—Mayor Thomas D. Taggart, Jr., of Atlantic City, Wednesday joined in the mounting protest against OPA requests that summer cottages be closed as a gasoline conservation measure.

"They're off the beam and have the wrong slant on what constitutes furthering the country's war effort," the mayor declared in pointing out that "Atlantic City is no longer a pleasure resort, but a necessary city.

"Our own experience shows that working people must have relaxation in order to keep up a sustained drive."

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 3 — Gov. Edward Martin has indicated a sizeable slash in "frilly governmental functions will be necessary if the commonwealth's finances are to be kept on an even keel in post-ward years. The governor said the people of Pennsylvania must soon realize that public funds are not "inexhaustible." While he did not amplify his statement except to emphasize that much money would be needed after the war for highway reconstruction, the governor has outlined a broad program of post-war improvements that may cost more than $200,000,000.

Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer has merged the planning, traffic and testing bureaus at an annual saving of more than $16,000 in top salaries alone. Shroyer said he had appointed John Herber, district engineer at Scranton, to head the new bureau temporarily. No further mergers were contemplated at present, he said, but indicated there would be others in the future because the department's work has been decreased by the federal government's ban on unessential road construction.

The State Bureau of Municipal Affairs is preparing to cooperate with municipalities in post-war planning. "It is notorious," the department stated, "that cities heretofore have grown in a haphazard and ill-regulated manner with little regard for order or system. While expert knowledge and skill have been called to the development of water supply, sewage disposal and other public utilities, the general layout and organization of the city plan has been left to chance or the whims of private individuals or property owners in the subdivision and development of their properties." It was pointed out that the "economy and efficiency of transportation, water supply and drainage and all similar public services depends upon the street layout."

"It is not, of course, possible to prepare a plan in advance which will anticipate the future needs of a city," the department stated, "for urban conditions and requirements are changing with the passage of time, but there are certain fundamental and controlling elements which make for the success or failure of both the public and private activities of the people." "These fundamental elements which are unquestioned and undisputed," it was stated, "may be classed broadly as transportation, and circulation, parks and recreation, public and quasi-public buildings, land division and zoning."

Look behind any artificial shortage and you find a government decision that some busines is more important than America.

Americans spend more money for gum than religion.

Milk Supply In Pittsburgh Hit

Milk Drivers Strike Against Curtailment Of Delivery Service Ordered By ODT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—Eighty percent of the Pittsburgh district's milk supply was shut off today and a million quarts threatened with indiscriminate "dumping" as a result of a two-day strike of AFL-Milk Drivers who steadfastly refuse to haul double loads.

Farmers in the rich tri-state milkshed, with plenty of milk on hand, were in a dilemma just what to do with the thousands of quarts, and many indicated they would feed the milk to hogs or drain it down sewers.

At the same time, Pittsburgh residents, now only able to purchase about one-fifth of their normal quota of milk at neighborhood dairies and groceries, were beginning to feel the pinch of the walkout, which was precipitated when the ODT ordered the milk industry to institute an every-other-day system of home deliveries.

Formerly, the milk distributors featured a daily doorstep delivery schedule, but were compelled to cut this in half when the ODT ordered a 40 percent mileage slash.

The milk drivers claim the adoption of the skip-a-day plan will result in the loss of jobs for many of them, and they have refused to deliver double loads—the plan worked out by the companies as a means of staying within the Office of Defense Transportation regulations and still maintain full service for its customers.

Some 120 prisoners will donate blood to the Red Cross for plasma to save the lives of men at the fighting fronts, following the example of 320 inmates who have made donations previously.

Peter Comforts Persecuted Christians

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Christ or Diana.

"For it is better, if the will of God should so will, that ye suffer for well-doing than for evil-doing."—I Peter 3:17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 6 is I Peter 3:13-17; 5:12-16; 5:6-10, the Golden Text being I Peter 3:17, "For it is better if the will of God should so will, that ye suffer for well-doing than for evil-doing.")

"Who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good?" Peter asks the question of the Christians in Asia Minor who were suffering persecutions for their faith. Peter must have been worried about these people, worried because of what he knew they must be suffering, worried for fear, perhaps, they might be tempted to give up their faith in fear of death.

So he took up his pen and wrote them letters of comfort, letters of hope, words intended to make them not only strong enough to stand firm in their faith, but to glorify that faith and render them happy even in their many trials or martyrdom.

"If ye suffer for righteousness sake, happy are ye: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled."

Next he tells them to have a good answer ready for "every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and fear." Men were expected by the Greeks to be able to give ready answers to questions about their opinions, and to discuss intelligently and temperately their reasons for such opinions or faiths. They were told to answer questions, not in fear or in a belligerent manner, but with becoming meekness, having good consciences.

To Shame Slanderers

By this attitude those who spoke of them as evil doers should be ashamed of so doing because of their good conversation in Christ. "For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil doing."

"Beloved," Peter writes, "think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you. But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings." Fiery trials, indeed, were in store for many of these Christians. They were classed on a level with thieves and murderers and the Roman state was bound to crush them—stamp them out.

It was natural that they should wonder why they were persecuted so fiercely as if they were criminals, when they taught and practiced a religion of love. But their leader and master, Christ, had suffered death, so they should not be surprised, and if they, too, were crucified, they could "share Christ's sufferings" in their own way. They should therefore be happy, and rejoice in this.

"Let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief or as an evildoer, or, as a busybody in other men's matters."

Meddling in other people's affairs was a serious offense in the Roman world, just as in the days of the Puritans, when gossips were ducked in the pond.

"Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf." They were to hold their heads up proudly. They were not criminals, but good men suffering for their faith.

Finally, they were admonished to "humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time."

"Casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you."

They were in God's care, so why should they be burdened? Satan might walk about as a roaring lion, seeking who he may devour." They should cast their burdens on Him and remain steadfast in their faith, accepting their afflictions, and "the God of all grace, who hath called us unto His eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stabilize, strengthen, settle you."

Listed As Missing, Boron Believed Safe

Family Hears From Local Soldier After Date He Was Listed As Missing In Action

Listed as missing in action in the Tunisian campaign, April 28, by the war department, members of the family of Stanley Boron have received a letter from him, written May 5, and postmarked May 13, which leads them to believe that the statement from the war department is an error. His sisters and brothers here have asked the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, to check for them.

Boron, who was 36 years of age, had been in service just a year this month.

Another brother, Joseph S. Boron, was listed as wounded in action in Tunisia several weeks ago. Since then the family has received two letters from the war department, one stating that he was improving, and the second stating that he was returning to the United States.

Special Care Is Needed To Prepare Dried Vegetables

Victory Garden Products Can Be Kept Indefinitely If Properly Prepared

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 3.—If you wish good meals next winter from your victory garden this summer, dry your vegetables with special care, E. W. Schroeder, instructor in agricultural engineering at the Pennsylvania State college, said today.

1. Use only strictly fresh, thoroughly ripe, top-grade products.
2. Wash and cut into uniform thicknesses.
3. Blanch or precook for five or six minutes.
4. Dry to a moisture content of five or six per cent. This can be found by weighing the food before and after dehydration. If dehydrated much more, the vegetables may fail to reconstitute properly. In the proper state of dryness for storage, pieces are brittle.
5. Put at once into heated moisture-proof containers, such as syrup pails, and seal tightly.

Not all vegetables of the same kind can be dried properly, Mr. Schroeder points out. Those grown on some types of soil or under certain moisture conditions are not satisfactory.

Fruits are much more easily dehyrdated and stored, he said, since the finished product may contain as much as 15 per cent moisture.

Five-Year Terms For Men Refusing To Report To Camp

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker sentenced three men for various selective service law violations and in addition fined two brothers for breaking the OPA ceiling prices for meat.

The court sent Roy Brinton Dunn, of Arnold (Westmoreland county), Carl Swick, of East McKeesport, and Russell B. Merle, of Johnstown, to federal penitentiaries each to serve five-year terms for refusing to report to camps for conscientious objectors.

Judge Schoonmaker fined Morris Glick and his brother, William, operators of a slaughtering house at Mt. Pleasant (Westmoreland county) $500 each after both pleaded guilty to charges of selling meat above ceiling prices fixed by the government.

ARENDS OF ILLINOIS NEW REPUBLICAN WHIP

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—House Republicans on Wednesday elected Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Melvin, Ill., as their new whip, succeeding the late Rep. Harry L. Englebright of California, who died last month.

Selection of Arends, prominent American Legionnaire, banker and farmer who has served in Congress since 1934, came on the fourth ballot when he took a decisive lead over his nearest rival, Rep. Frank Carlson, of Kansas.

WOMEN AT WORK HERE—FOR WAR

These pictures give you an idea of what is going on in the N. Y. A. training center in Cunningham Park. The upper picture is a view of the machine shop where girls are trained to operate lathes of all kinds. Gas and arc welding is taught in another shop.

The lower picture is a group of students gathered around Instructor Raymond Earl who is explaining the intricacies of a lathe. From left to right they are, Instructor Earl, Goldie Schultz, 776 Arlington avenue, Helen Lelenko, 1108 Cunningham avenue, Mary Zarlenga, 1402 Croton avenue, Ann Robinson, 22 South Mill street and the girl facing away from the camera is Ann Walzak, 7 Northview avenue.

Women in war is more than a phrase by now, it is a poten factor in the prosecution of war and over the nation thousands of young women are operating lathes, welding, working in railroad shops and yards and doing a fine piece of work while their brothers are in the armed forces.

One of the training schools for women for industry that is attracting state wide attention just now is the National Youth Administration training center in Cunningham Park. In past months both young men and women have been trained but the need just now is for young women trainees between the age of 16 and 24.

Over 1200 Furnished

Since the training center here began its work, over 1200 young men and women have been sent into industry, according to H. R. Neill, Project Manager. The need for women machine operators and welders is increasingly heavy and as fast as a girl finishes her training and passes an examination she is sent into a plant.

With high schools closing for the summer the possibilities of new trainees is seen and applications are being received now for admission to the training school. Girls who live in New Castle may be at home every night if they wish and will receive $35 per month and one meal per day at the center, while they are training. Girls who come in from other communities live in the dormitories and are paid $15.90 per month and get their room and board free.

The course consists of 160 hours per month spent in training and class room work under competent instructors. Blue print reading, mathematics, shop practice in machine operation and welding, both gas and arc are taught.

The girls live in well appointed dormitories in Cunningham Park with every dormitory under the supervision of a woman advisor. The food served is excellent and living conditions, recreational facilities and the like are ample. The pictures accompanying this article give one an idea of the working conditions in the shops.

Applications for enrollment in the center may be made either at the center or through the United States Employment Service offices in New Castle.

The training program of the N. Y. A. over the country is a large one. During the first three months of the current fiscal year, 37,590 individuals have received war industry training in NYA shops in Region 3.

Thousands of young men and women have been placed in industry in shipyards, steel companies, air craft plants and the like. Paul W. McNutt, head of the War Manpower Commission has said that the NYA has been the greatest single producer of war training workers.

Because of labor shortage on Manitoba farms, boys from Winnipeg high schools have been helping in the harvesting. The first group of boys went to Minto where provincial government representatives put them to work. School authorities have extended the holiday period so that more boys may be available to aid in harvesting.

Will Clamp Down On Food "Cheats"

State Moves Against Adulteration, Misbranding Caused By War Shortages

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 3.—Agents of the State Department of Agriculture were instructed today to clamp down on food "cheats".

Anton Roeger, Jr., director of the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry, advised his men that "the recent adoption of the nationwide rationing program emphasizes the importance of so directing your operations that any material debasement of those foods and food products which are subject to rationing . . . will be detected."

"Under existing wartime conditions," he pointed out, "there is every probability that a substantial increase in serious economic cheats will occur. Current shortages will materially increase the temptation towards adulteration and misbranding. Where the supply of commodities is limited and the consumer is obliged to curtail his food purchases, economic violations become increasingly more serious. Such violations may affect not only the financial resources, but may actually impair the health of consumers through a reduction in nutritional value."

Roeger disclosed that in recent months action has been instituted against "a number of flagrant economic violations attributable exclusively to current shortages in certain classes of foods and food products."

AROUND CITY HALL

Chris Coulthard, manager of Cascade Park, expressed himself as well satisfied with crowds Memorial day and Monday in view of weather conditions. Yesterday the Senior class and Thaddeus Stevens school romped at the park . . People who have civil service jobs and appreciate them are not talking politics . . . Billy Gleen and his peanuts are again at Cascade Park. Without Billy and his peanuts the park wouldn't seem the same . . . When Alvin Brown assumes charge of the city's playgrounds it will be his first job for the city . . Judging from the number of automobiles parked along Washington street parking meter receipts will hold up for awhile. The money for the past several weeks is being collected now. The cut in A cards didn't affect receipts much. Whether or not the slice in B and C cards will, remains a question . . . Solicitor R. M. White recently warned city council to arrange for a real check-up on operation of city cars because the government makes such a report compulsory. City cars can't be used as "taxicabs" . . . A man who runs for office should be big enough to stand criticism and not become vexed because everybody wont vote for him.

RALPH COOPER HUTCHINSON
Executive Director, State Council of Defense

For Your Own Protection—

DON'T MAKE TELEPHONE CALLS DURING OR AFTER AN AIR RAID WARNING!

Immediately after the recent air raid test, volumes of telephone calls were very high — in some parts of Pennsylvania as much as 40 per cent above normal.

IF THIS SHOULD HAPPEN AFTER A REAL AIR RAID, it might cause loss of life and great property damage because congestion would then delay EMERGENCY calls—for doctors, fire departments, demolition squads and repair crews!

True, this was only a test. But the purpose of tests is to perfect the Defense System for the real thing! So follow all the rules, including this one:

DON'T MAKE TELEPHONE CALLS DURING OR AFTER ANY AIR RAID WARNING UNLESS THEY'RE EMERGENCY CALLS

Washington Presses New York Yanks For A. L. Lead

Senators Skin Indians, 13 - 1; Yanks Lose, 2-1

Nats Within Eight Percentage Points Of Lead; Bucs Cop Agan, 3-2

PHILLIES, REDS SCORE TRIUMPHS

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 3—The tremendously high voltage of the electrically charged 1943 pennant races neared the explosion point today in both leagues. Another shock rippled through both loops last night as the Brooklyn Dodgers bitterly defended their National league lead by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals in a 3 to 2 dogfight, and the Washington Senators crept to within eight percentage points of the American league lead by skinning the Cleveland Indians 13 to 1.

This was the second strong bid for the lead inspired by the Cardinals in the four-game series with the Dodgers, and it drew the largest crowd ever to attend a night game in Sportsman's Park, 28,749. Max Macon yielded six hits and enabled the Dodgers to go on to Chicago with a 1½-game hold on first place.

Nats Bury Indians

The Senators buried the Indians under an avalanche of 17 hits for 23 bases in advancing to the threshold of first place. Jack Early was the leader with a triple and three singles, Johnson followed with a triple and two singles, and every man on the Senators drove in at least one run.

The Pittsburgh Pirates dropped the Boston Braves out of the three-way tie for third place by whipping the Braves, 3 to 2. Elbie Fletcher's home run in the last half of the ninth with one aboard sparked the belated rally.

Frank Overmire yielded only five hits to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 7 to 2 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics, while his teammates pounced on Luman Harris to put the game on ice in the fourth. Dick Wakefield singled, Mike Higgins reached first on an error, and Don Ross flied out to score Wakefield. Rudy York singled, Jimmy Bloodworth singled Higgins across, Eddie Parson doubled home York and Overmire squeezed in Bloodworth with a perfect bunt.

Hank Borowy pitched masterful ball up to the eighth inning, but then sagged to give the Chicago White Sox a 2 to 1 triumph over the New York Yankees. A wild pitch in the eighth frame with the bases loaded allowed the White Sox to score the tying run. In the ninth, Mike Tresh sewed up the game by singling in Luke Appling, who had doubled.

Sox-Browns Split

The Boston Red Sox split a double-header with the St. Louis Browns, the Brownies taking the first, 7 to 4, then dropping the afterpiece 3 to 2. A three-run five-hit rebellion in the twelfth inning of the opener gave the Brownies the game and broke a Red Sox four-game winning streak. Yank Terry held the Brownies to four hits in the nightcap while Jim Tabor's tenth-inning triple with Lazor on first brought victory to the Red Sox.

The Cincinnati Reds, theretofore in a three-way tie for third place, insured themselves against a drop in the rating by flooding out the New York Giants with 18 hits in a 13 to 6 victory. The Giants roared into the lead by pounding Bucky Walters out of the box with seven hits and five runs in the second. But the Reds came back to hammer the daylights out of five Giants' hurler and gain their seventh victory in nine home games against eastern clubs.

The amazing Philadelphia Phillies snuffed out a ninth inning rally to overcome the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5. The winning run came in the ninth when Paul Busby singled, stole second, and came in under Babe Dahlgren's double. The Cubs countered with two runs in their half, but were stopped cold by Lanky Jack Kraus.

FOXX'S WIFE WINS DIVORCE

Charges Jimmy With Being "Selfish Boy"; Suit Is Uncontested

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 3.—Charges that Jimmy Foxx, former American League ball player, "never grew up" and that he is "still a selfish boy" Wednesday won a divorce for his wife, the former Helen Heite, 35, of Dover, Del.

In claiming divorce on grounds of indignities, Mrs. Foxx averred that her husband used intoxicating liquors to "excess" and that he was "more concerned with the plaudits of the baseball fans than with their martial happiness."

Suit Uncontested

"Jimmy Foxx has never grown up," she complained to the Montgomery county court. "He's still a selfish boy and lacks all the delightful little things that women look for and expect of their husbands."

Foxx is the father of two sons, James Jr., 12, and William K. eight. And, complained Mrs. Foxx although he played in three world series, "he wouldn't play catch with junior."

The suit was uncontested.

Milwaukee's Novel Stunt Lures 7,500

"Chollie" Grimm Leads Vaudeville Show; Entertainment Fee Charged

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, June 3.—Milwaukee baseball fans were practically unanimous today in the verdict that even if their club, the Brewers, is down in fourth place, it certainly puts on the best show in the American Association circuit.

The crowd of 7,500—which is a big attendance compared with the number of customers attracted to Borchert Field when Bill Veeck and Charlie Grimm took hold of the club in midseason 1941—went wild last night as Manager Grimm, the players and other talent put on their acts.

Louisville Wins, 9-7

According to Veeck, the admission fee was for the entertainment. The baseball game in which, incidentally, the Louisville Colonels licked the Brewers 9 to 7 in 10 innings, was free.

Up at home plate Manager Grimm energetically strummed his left-handed guitar with Herschel Martin, a former Phil player, banging away at the piano. Business Manager Rudy Schaefer operated what went for a bull fiddle. It was contrived from a three-gallon paint bucket, a broom handle and a cord to which plenty of resin had been applied.

Grimm's antics made him the hit of the show and he was encored back to delight the crowd with a baritone solo.

Other acts in the musical extravaganza were put on by the club's own swing band, with Bill "Sport Shirt" Veeck tooting a 10-cent whistle and by the club's quartet.

Suspend Jockey Chalmer Basham

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 3—Jockey Chalmer Basham today started serving a suspension extending to the end of the Lincoln Fields race meeting, which has two and a half weeks to go.

The suspension was ordered by the three stewards representing the Illinois Racing Board and two representatives of the Lincoln Fields Jockey club for what they termed "unsatisfactory riding during the meeting." They did not cite any particular race or races.

Basham, whose home is in Irvington, Ky., is under contract to Walter Wilkerson, Jr., and has ridden six winners during the meeting. However, he has been on several public choices that failed to race to expectations.

Sports Ramblings

Sports chips collected at random:—

Cinemaland's famous dramaturgist—Jimmie Fidler—recently tapped out a breezy short story involving a nationally known sports figure whose home town is New Castle. Here's what Fidler wrote:

"In a dingy Brooklyn gymnasium, 25 years ago, two young men struck a bargain. One was a professional cartoonist, who for reasons of his own, wanted to become a boxer. The other—a promising young professional fighter—consented to take the tyro under his wing. In exchange, the artist agreed to teach the pug cartooning. They trained together, lived together, and taught each other the tricks of their respective professions.

"In 1914, the cartoonist who had wanted to be a boxer, entered the ring professionally—and knocked out George Chip to become the world's middleweight champion. His name was Al McCoy. Meanwhile the one-time professional boxer had become a businessman cartoonist. His progress was slower, but his eventual triumph was more permanent. His name? Dave Fleischer—now the millionaire producer of Columbia's screen cartoons."

Fleet-footed Russ Currie, the 1942 Statue of Liberty expert on Ne-Ca-Hi's championship team, is stationed at Camp Pickett, Virginia, a winsome young lady informs this scribbler . . . And Ted Lach, who played fullback on the same team during the early stages of the season, dons military livery on the 10th . . . Coy Craine, the Wampum basketball superman, is an unusually talented baseballer. The colored star slaps out a long ball . . . .

Dashing for home against the Boston Braves wasn't a new chapter in "Huck" Geary's book. The Pirate shortstop has performed that stunt quite regularly since hooking up with the Bucs . . . "Diz" Dean reported that one of three major league offers came from the Athletics. Connie Mack countered by announcing that "it's news to me". Same old Dean . . . Tony Galento wasn't showered with vegetables in Florida. The fight ended in 25-seconds, thus depriving patrons of a chance to grab the grub . . . .

Cards - Phillies Trade Puzzler

Dain Clay Key Man In Transaction, Not Hard Hitting Dan Litwhiler

PHILS MAY FIGURE IN ANOTHER DEAL

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, June 3.—Papers said it was a straight player trade the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals consummated, with outfielders Danny Litwhiler and Earl Naylor going to the Cardinals for Outfielders Coaker Triplett, Buster Adams and Dain Clay. The transaction is a puzzler.

In the first place, one of those outfielders, to wit, Clay, was a shortstop less than three years ago and the Phillies made the trade strictly on assumption that the guy still is a shortstop. In the second place, this deal may be the forerunner of another between the Phillies and an unnamed National league club, much depending on Clay's first-week performance.

Clay Key Man?

A seemingly obscure factor in the situation as it unfolded, he's really key man in the dicker as far as the Phillies are concerned. This developed when the writer started to go into a mild gush about Triplett. Some people seemed to feel it was significant that the Phillies made their deal with the Cardinals over the phone in the private offices of the Cubs at Wrigley field, it being held that maybe this meant the Cubs and Phillies were about to deal for Len Merullo. This didn't sound very feasible.

For one thing, Merullo's arm is coming back and he's definitely on the up-grade. For another, the Phillies can't forward a competent replacement. For a third, the Cubs themselves can't provide a replacement, competent or otherwise.

Eddie Stanky did play the position in the American Association and was shifted over to the left side for a few games during the Cubs' doleful tour of the eastern front. A few games, they say, proved several too many, it being the general view that Stanky contrived to show in a very short time that he was positively one of the best second basemen they ever saw trying to play shortstop.

Giants May Trade

Anyhow, you might venture to say that it could be Cubs, if only for the fact that it can't be the Dodgers. They're looking everywhere for a shortstop themselves, probably even under loose boards.

The Giants might trade for Bill Jurges if the deal came up to them in the right way. But the Phillies haven't got that kind of trading material, barring a few pitchers—who, by the way, are too danged few with the double-header season coming up.

That's the fundamental difference incidentally between the old Phillies and the new, the latter aren't giving, or donating any more. They're trying to take.

Army Entry Nearly Cops Marine Race

Although the winner of the Marine Corps Base marathon recently run at San Diego was a paramarine, Cpl. Edward P. Barrangan, the Marines have been freely admitting that the second finisher, an Army man, is practically up to the Marine standard. Pvt. Michael Yurick of Camp Callan, was the added starter. The Camp Callan entry in the field of nine appeared at the starting line, cap in hand and blouse unbuttoned, and asked Capt. Charles Churc'i, Marine Base athletic officer, for permission to start.

Lt. H. R. Hay, USN medical officer, gave Yurick a quick physical examination and approved as the field of eight Marines waited for the participant who ran the 26 mile, 385 yard race in tennis shoes.

Col. Barrangan's winning time was 3:06:10. Pvt. Yurick's time was 3:27:07. Pvt. Yurick finished strong and after a rubdown, hurried away to meet his wife.

City Leaguers Hope To Open Season Tonight

Moose Vs. Elders On Marshall Field; Potters Host To Lawrence Indies

INAUGURAL TILTS TO BEGIN AT 6 P.M.

Clear skies today indicated that the City Baseball league has a better than 50-50 chance of opening its 10th season tonight.

The inaugurals, originally were scheduled for Sunday afternoon but the weather guy said "nix". The sandlotters tried again Tuesday, but were thwarted for the second time.

Moose vs. Elders

This evening's program brings together the Moose, first-half champs last year, and the Elder A. C. on Marshall field.

Up in the West Side, the Shenango Pottery aggregation swings against the Lawrence Indies on Lee avenue field.

Both games start at 6 o'clock.

With June moving into the end of its first week, the baseball situation, like a lot of other things, is cockeyed. For the first time in years, not a single league game has been played here.

See Tight Race

League operatives foresee a tight race due to an equal distribution of strength. The Pottery, a new entry, reportedly is a brusque outfit. The Moose pack power, as in past years. The Elders, riddled by selective service, nevertheless has a well balanced troupe; so does the Indies.

Listed below are the phone numbers of representatives of the four teams:

Lawrence Indies, 9476; Shenango Pottery, 3610; Moose, 1895 or 2551-M; Elders, 3105.

Thaddeus Tourney In Final Stages

Eking out a 14-13 triumph over the 4 (2) class, the 5 (1) team moved into the finals of the Thaddeus Stevens softball tourney Wednesday.

Trailing in the last inning, Phillip Pizzitola and Joe Marinelli clouted homers to put the fourth graders ahead. Donald Reed slashed a four bagger with the bases loaded to decide the issue.

Whiffs 10 Batters

Phillip Pizzitola and Donald Malarello formed the losing battery. Charles Richards and Bruce Kerr comprised the victorious duo. Moses hurled the last inning for the 5 (1) aggregation. Richards had 10 strikeouts, Tommy Clarke kept score.

The final game of the tourney will be played this week with the 5 (1) troupe meeting the 6 (2) team.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESSEALL

This summer many young boys will be going off to summer camps . . . and a fine thing it is too that a boy can get away from his regular surroundings and mix with other lads . . . learn to mix with people, learn to swim, and to he also will have a chance to absorb sunshine and build up his body, the most valuable thing in his life is good health. We have some mighty fine camps here in Lawrence County . . . if you haven't a boy for a boy's camp perhaps you would like to help send a lad who just doesn't have all the necessary cash . . . Call the Y. M. C. A. and hear what they have to say.

There are lots of ways you may help the All-out War Effort without spending a red cent . . . Volunteers are needed right now for the blood bank that will be here in a very short time. It doesn't take long to give your blood and it doesn't hurt. The blood that you give will be treated in a special way and the results will be sent to the battle field hospitals where that little effort of yours might save a life. Maybe a life of a relative or a friend . . . Don't wait to be asked, volunteer your services today . . . Call at the American Red Cross Chapter House on Beaver Street.

It breaks public trust when the government makes mistake and then tends to make it right without any definite explanation . . . Every one is human and when humans have anything to do with anything there are bound to be mistakes . . . but foolish mistakes made by a group of "brains" seems uncalled for . . . especially when innocent citizens suffer from those mistakes . . . Fruth is what the citizens of the United States want from their government, not a lot of gold coated talk.

When a fire breaks out in the downtown section especially there should be (we think) a very definite fire line made at a safe distance from the fire by fire police or whatever group that has the authority. Not so long ago a Tire Repair Shop burned, a very nasty fire it was too, the material they used burned like fury . . . yet before the firemen left, men, women and children where poking their head into the building . . . The firemen can't run around telling people to stay away, they are there to fight the fire, not police the place . . . in the Tire Store a drum of material might have exploded any time . . . many people would have been injured and whose fault would it have been? Citizens you should know enough to stay away.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 3.—Ellwood City playgrounds opened yesterday with record opening day crowds in spite of the threatening weather. West End playground turned in the record attendance for the day with 483 children—Ewing Park was second with 291; Shelby third with 247 and North Side with 192. The opening day was marred only by an accident at the Shelby play spot when 10-year-old Robert Borison of 3 Glenn avenue extension, fell off of a swing and fractured his left wrist and elbow. Playground apparatus such as swings, merry-go-rounds, see-saws, and jungle gyms took the eye of most of the children. The first weekly project for all playgrounds will be checkers and the city champ will be crowned one week from tomorrow.

Not At Front, But Soldier Dies Hero

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 3—Corporal Joseph S. Selenack, only son of a Philadelphia patrolman, never saw action in the war but died a hero nonetheless.

The Philadelphia youth, it was learned Wednesday, sacrificed his life to save 20 school children from being mangled by the 30-ton tank he was driving back to his training base at Fort Knox on Monday.

Selenack knew, his commanding officer said, that the tank would have crushed the school bus that loomed ahead of him so, making a split second decision, the corporal swerved the tank over a 30-foot bank. He was dead of a fractured skull when extricated, the War Department advised his father, Patrolman Stephen Selenack.

A graduate of Roman Catholic high school, Selenack was inducted into the army in October, 1941.

Cradle To Grave Social Security Bill Is Proposed

U. S. Version of Beveridge Plan Based On 12 Per Cent Payroll Tax

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A new Social Security bill—an American version of the famous British Beveridge plan—was proposed to the Senate today by Sens. Robert F. Wagner (D) N. Y., and James E. Murray (D) Mont.

The measure, which is expected to be the foundation of the administration's "cradle to grave" plan, is based upon a 12 per cent payroll tax, consolidation of old-age pensions and unemployment insurance and broad extension of health and other services.

The measure, as described by Wagner, would:

1. Levy payroll tax of six per cent on employer and six per cent on employee, making total of 12 per cent.

2. Abolish present system of federal-state unemployment insurance, consolidating all social security plans under the federal government.

3. Increase maximum benefits under the oold-age annuity plan to maximum of $120 a month after the age of 65. Make women eligible for old-age insurance at 60. Provide minimum of $30 for aged couple.

4. Extend coverage under old-age insurance system to agricultural and domestic workers and employes of non-profit institutions.

5. Establish new federal unemployment insurance system and liberalize benefits. Maximum benefit is $30 a week.

6. Give men and women discharged from military service unemployment insurance ranging from $12 to $30 a week for possible maximum of 52 weeks.

7. Set up federal system of medical and hospital insurance for all persons covered under old-age and survivors insurance and dependents.

8. Provide unified public assistance program, under which federal grants would be made to states on a needs basis.

9. Establish a new system of national unemployment offices.

10. Provide permanent disability insurance, effective January 1, 1944.

Council To Ask Bids On Meters

City To Take Bids On 165 Parking Meters According To Action Today

Council is preparing to advertise for 165 more parking meters.

Instructions to prepare an advertisement was issued today after council passed an ordinance authorizing such purchase.

The ordinance will become legal in 10 days and any time after that the bids may be received, opened and a contract awarded.

Under the provisions of such advertisements any company has the right to place bids.

The type of meters to be bought must conform to plans and specifications arranged by the city.

Whether they will be one hour-five cent meters, 15 minute-penny meters or what remains to be seen.

Some of the present meters which cost about $58.00, are bad and it is desired to replace them.

Recently a firm offered the same type of meter excepting of better material for less money.

Councilman J. D. Alexander stated the present type could be secured for half the former price.

Whether the cut in the amount of gasoline allotted to this district will play a part in the meter purchase remains to be seen.

Who Said: 'There's always room for one more'?

We, at Britton's, are inclined to doubt the statement. We know that our cleaning plant is filled to capacity several days each week. It is necessary at times to refuse our customers dry cleaning services. For this, we humbly apologize, and assure you that we are doing all we can to improve the condition.

Please do not look for an immediate solution to the problem. We are bound by certain rules and regulations being enforced by our government. We heartily approve of every measure that furthers an American Victory on the war front, and are willing to carry our share of these burdens.

Britton's cannot increase the space occupied by the plant. We cannot satisfactorily increase our personnel. Neither can we install machinery for expansion. Under present conditions, it is impossible to produce greater quantity without sacrificing quality.

Britton's quality will never be sacrificed for quantity! Please be patient if there's no room for your cleaning at Britton's when you call.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

By order of the OPA, effective immediately, our drivers are permitted to make but two stops at any one house in the same week. If customer is not at home when delivery is made, garments will be taken back to our plant for delivery again the following week.

Attu Invaders Find Japs Were Well-Supplied

Americans Discover Jap Camouflage And Beach Defenses Superior To Ours

FUR-LINED CLOTHES STRANGE, BUT USEFUL

(What kind of life did the Japs live on Attu? How well were they trained, equipped and supplied? Answers to these and similar questions are given by Howard Handleman, International News Service war correspondent with the American forces, in the following dispatch revealing what our soldiers found when they kicked the Japs out of their strongholds.)

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ATTU ISLANDS, The Aleutians, May 16.—(Delayed)—This is a great Sunday for hundreds of American men who were able to quit fighting for a short while to become thorough-going tourists in an abandoned Jap army camp.

They fingered everything they could find in the strange underground dwellings and storehouses, with the equally musty, fishy smell that pervaded every hut.

The Japs were chased out of the valley of the west arm of Holtz bay in a big hurry yesterday. They had no time to move stores of guns and food and clothing which were piled high in their huts and houses.

The American soldiers found that contrary to widespread belief, the Jap soldier is a well-equipped, well-fed soldier, smarter than we in some aspects of this northern war.

Frame Huts Underground

His camouflage and his beach defenses are superior to ours. His huts are dug underground, frame houses built in excavations and covered with tundra sod. Tis use of the conspicuous tent is sparing.

The camp was overflowing with supplies. A long warehouse was stocked to the ceiling with brand new guns and ammunition. Another had a huge supply of clothing and blankets, good clothing and good blankets.

His clothing was strange to us; long, sleeveless coats lined with goatskin, fur-lined shoes, arm-length rubber gloves, fur-lined felt leggings and other articles of dress foreign to us. But the utility of each bit of clothing was obvious to the men who had spent six days on this cold, wet island of mountains.

Food Plentiful, Good

The Jap food was plentiful and good. The biggest warehouse in the camp held row after row of hundred pound sacks of rice, along with lots of carrots, potatoes, spinach and canned goods. The Japs' canned tangarine was a great favorite among our troops who had been living on comparatively dry field rations six days.

The officers lived in frame huts buried underground and covered with tundra sod. Each hut housed 20 men, who slept side by side on a two-foot platform that took up most of the building.

The barracks for the men was similar, except that it had two tiers of platforms, doubling capacity and making the room a dark, crowded living place.

There were a few handcarts with rubber tires on their bicycle wheels. Our medics mads use of these carts to move men who couldn't walk because of trench foot, the painful ailment, similar to frostbite, which took a heavy toll of our troops.

Trouser Cuff Ban Is Lifted, But—

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Sale of trousers with cuffs was permissible today but there was a catch in it.

The War Production board lifted all restrictions on the finishing of men's boy's wool pants, in effect permitting the sale of them either without cuffs or with simulated cuffs.

However, the board pointed out that limitations on trouser-lengths will continue unchanged and the finishing of trousers with cuffs will be the exception rather than the rule.

"Only in those rare instances where there is sufficient material left over after trousers have been fitted may full cuffs be attached if desired," the board said.

The original cuff ban was issued to recover the excess wool cloth from 19,000,000 pairs of trousers in stock when it was first issued.
